

Long Likens NRA Fire To Davy Crockett Shots At a Louse in Eyebrow

Huey Assails New Deal as a St. Vitus Dance, Johnson as General Who Never Smelled Any Powder.

FRIGID SILENCE

Johnson Said to be Saving Reply Until Father Coughlin Speaks Over Radio Monday Night.

Washington, March 8 (AP)—The Democratic high command with which Huey P. Long is at war met with frigid silence today his latest onslaught on the Roosevelt administration.

Observers noted that, after assailing the New Deal as a "St. Vitus dance" and Hugh S. Johnson as a general who "never smelled powder or heard a cap snap," the Louisiana dictator seized the opportunity to attempt, before his huge radio audience, to hammer home his "share the wealth" ideas.

They wondered if that were not an emphatic new indication of an effort to gather strength for the 1936 campaign—in which some observers foresee the possibility of a third party movement.

Of the men who have struck at Long in the past few days, only Johnson had any immediate comment on last night's speech. The former Blue Eagle chief who is in Providence, Rhode Island, said: "It's a great joke"—and for the time being let it go at that. He is saving his fire until after Father Charles E. Coughlin of Detroit Jewell Monday night to the Johnsonian charge that both the priest and the Louisiana senator are demagogues appealing to the "abused babies" of depression.

Long flailed his arms as much as ever as he contended in the radio speech that the White House had declared war on him and chosen "the late and lamented, the panned ex-crown prince" of the Blue Eagle to make the "lead-off speech."

But the "Kingfish" departed from his custom in one respect—he had prepared a manuscript, which he followed part of the time. One of his departures from it was his disparaging reference to Johnson's military prowess. Another was his contention that when Johnson went out of NRA he prepared "a blistering statement" which never saw the light of day.

The reason it was suppressed, he said, was that "Wall Street might want to loan him to some other president in the future." Once, he changed a more elegant appellation for his foes to the phrase "those birds oppressing me."

"God save the country from the misery and distress of that gang," he said.

Declaring that "the Roosevelt administration, Mr. Johnson, Mr. Farley, Mr. Astor and all their spotters and spellbinders are gunning for him because they think he is the 'cause of their misery,'" he said:

"They are like old Davy Crockett, who went out to hunt a possum. He saw in the gleam of the moonlight that a possum in the top of the tree was going from limb to limb. He shot and missed. He saw the possum again. He fired a second time and missed again. Soon he discovered that it was not a possum he saw at all in the top of the tree. It was a louse in his own eyebrow."

"Demagoguery"

Long's latest onslaught on the Roosevelt administration was termed today by one senator as "an adroit piece of demagoguery," but in general it caused little stir in Capitol Hill.

Many senators said they listened to Long assailing the administration and Hugh S. Johnson, former NRA head, but few would comment.

"What did you think of it?" Senator Bilbo (D., Miss.) was asked.

"He didn't say anything to make me think," he replied.

Meanwhile, the Senate post office committee planned its fifth successive meeting behind closed doors late today to act on Long's resolution for an investigation of Postmaster General Farley.

It was Senator Clark (D., Mo.) who has frequently challenged Long's tactics on the floor, who hurled the "demagoguery" retort to the "Kingfish's" charge that the whole "Roosevelt crowd" was out to get him because he had informed the world that "tangled messes and noble experiments would not work."

Provisions of Huge War Department Bill

Washington, March 8 (AP)—The $400,000,000 War Department appropriation bill which was up for passage in the Senate today would:

Provide about $350,000,000—the largest amount since World War days—for military activities.

Increase the enlisted strength of the army from 118,750 to 165,000 men and the National Guard by 5,000.

Give $19,000,000 to the Air Corps for the construction of 547 airplanes and increased flying hours.

Provide another $19,000,000 for increased army pay.

Enable the War Department to spend $65,000,000 more in the fiscal year beginning July 1 than it has in the current year.

Provide $6,000,000 for mechanizing the army and making other improvements.

More Taxpayers Pay General City Taxes Than in the Year 1934

Up to and including March 7, 1934, the total amount of general taxes collected was $358,194. While for same period this year, with 84 reduction in rate, $358,930, was collected.

Whether financial conditions are better in Kingston this year than last, or whether it is due to the reduction of $4 a thousand in the tax rate this year, the fact remains that the amount of taxes collected to date this year is slightly in excess of the amount collected for the same period last year.

The fact that more taxes have been collected so far this year would indicate that a greater number of people are finding it possible to pay the general city tax than last year, as more money has been collected with a tax rate reduction of $4 a thousand from the 1934 tax rate.

Up to and including March 7, 1934, the total amount of general city taxes collected was $358,194.44, while for a similar period this year the total collected was $358,930.31.

At the city treasurer's office it was stated that based on the experience of previous years that the heaviest collections would be received today, Saturday and the first three days of next week. Saturday is the last day that the general city tax may be paid without fee, and for that reason the city treasurer's office will remain open that afternoon for the convenience of taxpayers.

HITLER'S "COLD" IS BETTER SINCE VISIT CANCELLATION

Berlin, March 8 (AP)—An air of confidence pervaded Wilhelmstrasse today as the word circulated that the "slight cold" which prompted Reichsfuehrer Hitler to cancel his conference with Sir John Simon, the British foreign secretary, was "greatly improved."

Nazi officialdom plainly indicated its belief that Hitler had "put one over on the British" by withdrawing his invitation to Sir John. The conviction was expressed that the British foreign secretary will accept a later invitation if the Reichsfuehrer decides to issue one.

Some quarters professed to believe that Sir John would be compelled to make his trip to Berlin eventually whether he wishes to or not because of pressure of internal politics.

Hitler was said to be awaiting the tone of the debate in the house of commons next Monday over publication of the controversial white paper before deciding upon his future course.

Great Britain was described by some officials as "greatly embarrassed" by the Reichsfuehrer's move while the press featured accounts of opposition in British political circles to the white paper's comments on German rearmaments.

TREASURY RECEIPTS

Washington, March 8 (AP)—The position of the treasury on March 7 was: Receipts, $122,544,110.22; expenditures, $84,874,264.40; balance, $2,019,142,215.68; customs receipts for the month, $1,322,438.20. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $2,242,428,288.35; expenditures, $4,447,432,117.45 (including $2,411,680,384.31 of emergency expenditures); excess of expenditures, $2,205,275,629.12; gold assets, $4,545,424,425.72.

Athens, March 8 (AP)—A report published yesterday in the United States (not carried by The Associated Press), that three Greek government destroyers had been a bombardment of Cyprus on the island of Cyprus, were today officially branded as "hoax."

(Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press.) Athens, March 8—Loyal troops launched an offensive from the north at rebels in Macedonia today shortly after the Greek government intercepted messages it said indicated the insurgents were about ready to surrender.

Gen. Kallistras, commanding the division in the north, sent his troops plunging down across snow-covered fields in the wake of bombing planes that roared across the rebels' positions to harass them with aerial bombs and machine gun fire.

The intercepted message, which the government claimed was sent by General Demetrius Kamanos, rebel commander, to other rebel chieftains, read:

"We are completely lost."

Just before Kallistras launched his drive, General George Kondylis, in command of loyal forces in the field, hurled 12 planes at the rebels' Macedonian lines.

A revolt within the revolt was reported as advisers were received of internal trouble spreading in the rebel ranks. The soldiers, it was reported, were demanding arrangements whereby the command be passed to non-commissioned officers.

Bad Weather

General Kondylis, who dropped his war portfolio to direct the government's action was handicapped by heavy weather and faced further difficulties in the Struma river section because the stream, swollen by rains and melting snow overflowed its banks and flooded entire districts.

Sole news of the operations of the rebel fleet, indicated it was resorting to reprisals as a result of the Turkish embargo on Greek ships placed at the request of the Athens government.

A report from Istanbul said the rebel flagship Averoff had stopped the Turkish steamer Konika which was en route to Smyrna and conducted it to Mytilene.

General Kondylis unleashed his plane attack after Premier Tsaldaris received a report from the minister of war that yesterday's aerial efforts "were in vain."

Fog Halts Air Attack

During the previous efforts two of the planes were forced to return because of fog and one fell in a gale. The crew was saved by using parachutes. General Kondylis said: "The front action has been feeble. We have been working on uniting the organization. General Panagiotakos has just returned from the front and says our army's morale is excellent."

In another declaration Kondylis reiterated that the government troops will occupy Kavalla "forty-eight hours after the weather permits an attack," and declared "Venizelos has lost the game" because the government has control of Athens, Larissa and Salonika, Greece's principal centers.

Bill For Insurance Group

Albany, N. Y., March 8 (AP)—A bill to create a commission of 15 members to study all phases of unemployment insurance in the state was introduced in the legislature today by Assemblyman Joseph Clark Baldwin, III, Manhattan Republican. Baldwin said he intended to vote for Governor Lehman's unemployment insurance bill now under consideration because he felt the only way "to get started on this social legislation is to set up a target for further and future improvements."

Under the Baldwin measure, three members of the proposed commission would be chosen from the senate, five from the assembly and seven to be appointed by the governor. They would be empowered to make investigations and hold hearings and report to the legislature on or before April 25, 1935. An appropriation of $50,000 was asked.

Sentenced To Sing Sing

New York, March 8 (AP)—Thomas J. Cullen, 27, former New York city policeman, today was sentenced to serve from one and a half to five years in Sing Sing upon conviction of abduction. Cullen was convicted of forcibly taking Anna McManus, 12-year-old school girl in his automobile in an isolated section of the Bronx. James Broderick, a truck driver, saw them and caused Cullen's arrest.

Fear and Quiet

Mention, France, March 8 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Enzo Piermonte, registered to a hotel in the hills near here, said today they would spend the next two or three months on the French Riviera. "We are seeking peace and quiet," Piermonte said, "and will stay where we find it. Naturally, we will go to Monte Carlo and travel around the Riviera. We want only to be left alone."

Plans Court in Can.

Montreal, N. Y., March 8 (AP)—Being one of the "It" months, Mrs. Florence Bauer would not have been surprised to find a pearl in an oyster, but when she opened a can of sardines and found one—that was a surprise. The pearl, small but well-formed, was found as she was homing the fish to make an oyster oyster lunch for her children.

Watered Stock Found Power Issues Receive Attention of Senators in As Cause of High Rates Work Relief Legislation

Investigation Reveals $13,500,000 "Water" Found in Stock as Cause for Alleged Excessive Rates Over Period of Years.

MACK QUERIES

John E. Mack Remarks "The poor old customer had it loaded on his bill."

Albany, N. Y., March 8 (AP)—J. Kay Dougherty, chief of counsel for the Legislative Utility Investigating Committee, testified today that $13,500,000 of "water" found in the stock of the Westchester Lighting Company 10 years ago is responsible for high rates paid by the company's customers.

John E. Mack, counsel to the committee, brought out in questioning Dougherty that as a result of a Public Service Commission order "in 40 years the consumer was to make up enough to take care of all this water."

The examination into the $13,500,000 "write-off," which was ordered by the Public Service Commission, followed a hearing yesterday at which letters were introduced purporting to show that former Senator William Lathrop Love, Brooklyn Democrat, was employed by the Consolidated Gas Company as a compensation expert while a member of the legislature.

Consolidated Gas owns the Westchester Lighting Company.

Dougherty told the committee that when a company appraisal and inventory showed there was $13,500,000 that "didn't exist," the commission ordered the company to amortize this sum over a period not to exceed 40 years.

Mack charged that this caused higher rates to be saddled on consumers although the company continued paying dividends.

Mack said that the company, if dissolved at that time, "could not have paid 100 cents on the dollar."

"You are familiar with the law that makes it a crime to pay dividends except out of surplus," Mack said to Dougherty. "Did it stop paying dividends?"

"No," Dougherty replied.

Mack brought out that rates in Westchester were higher than in Albany, Utica, Syracuse and other upstate sections.

"The company didn't have assets to meet its liabilities, but the fellow who took it all was the consumer," Mack said.

STUDENTS PROTEST TO NEW YORK LEGISLATORS

Albany, N. Y., March 8 (AP)—Modestly dressed students from all parts of the state today had laid their emphatic protests against the college-oath before the legislature for the second time.

The group, representing 17 colleges, told legislators yesterday the bill requiring all students in tax-supported colleges to take an oath of allegiance to the Constitution "will only intensify radicalism." The measure, dubbed the "Vassar Bill" in the Senate because of the strenuous protests lodged against it by a group of Vassar College students, has been passed by the Senate but at present is bogged down in the Assembly education committee.

"Abuse The Plaintiff"

New York, March 8 (AP)—Asserting that defense lawyers had fallen back on an old legal maxim—"When there's no defense, abuse the plaintiff"—Henry A. Utherhart, summing up for Mrs. Wilma E. Gould in her $500,000 damage suit before an eleven-man jury in Supreme Court today, said the defense had "completely" failed to refute Mrs. Gould's charges that she was "framed" in an effort to get divorce evidence against her.

$5,254 For Hauptmann

New York, March 8 (AP)—Direct solicitations for the Hauptmann defense fund in the German districts of the city had amounted to $5,254 when the soliciting was banned yesterday as being a violation of a city ordinance. It was revealed today.

Raguffin's Daughter in Chees.

New York, March 8 (AP)—Martha Raguffin, daughter of the man who asserted to powerful influence on the Russian court until slain in a "sudden" assassination, arrived on the liner Bremen today to join the Hagiback-Wallace circus as an animal trainer. A former cabaret dancer in Paris, Miss Raguffin, who is 27, will go at once to the circus headquarters in Peru, Indiana.

"Who am I an animal trainer?" she repeated, speaking French. "I have two daughters to support. I believe a circus because I have always been an expert horsewoman."

Investigation Continues

Baltimore, March 8 (AP)—An investigation continued today into the theft of $218,400 of bonds in the states disclosed before a federal commission who put Aaron Greenfield under $20,000 bail on a charge of receiving $15,000 in bonds "knowing them to have been stolen."

Still Studying War Department Appropriation Measure Delaying Action on Prevailing Wage Question in Work Relief Bill.

SHOUSE ASKS

American Liberty League Head Asks If Relief Funds Are To Be Used to Build Utilities.

Washington, March 8 (AP)—The power issue was called to the attention of senators today as they met with the hope of reaching a show-down before nightfall on the $1,880,000,000 work-relief bill.

Consideration of the war department appropriation bill continued, as it did yesterday, to delay another vote on the prevailing wage requirement which was written into the work relief measure recently against the wishes of President Roosevelt. But the senate agreed to proceed with this bill as soon as the slow-moving army bill is out of the way.

Both relief administrator Harry Hopkins and Secretary Weeks, the public works administrator, denied yesterday that funds administered by them were being withheld from some states to bring pressure on Senators opposing the administration on the works bill.

Senators heard, meantime, that the American Liberty League wanted them to find out if additional government power projects like the Tennessee Valley authority are contemplated under the work relief legislation.

Questioning the advisability of apportioning part of the fund to rural electrification projects, J. Louis Shouse, president of the league, asked in a radio speech last night: "It is proposed to duplicate utility facilities at the expense of investors in existing plants? Is it the purpose of the administration to expend this money of the taxpayers for further competition by government with industry? Does the President propose the establishment of other projects similar to the Tennessee Valley authority?"

"Into this congress should inquire carefully and if there are to be power projects created, whether along the Missouri river, the Arkansas river or any other river, the authorization must be granted specifically by congress and not assumed under a general appropriation bill for purpose of relief and employment."

YOUNG WOMAN BADLY INJURED IN GRAND CENTRAL CRASH

New York, March 8 (AP)—A couple driven by Elizabeth McGuirk, 21, skidded on the elevated ramp over Pershing Square in the heart of Manhattan today, crashed through a railing and plunged upside down to a sidewalk 20 feet below.

Protected by the top of the automobile, the young woman was dragged from the car alive but at City Hospital was found to have suffered severe internal and head injuries. The automobile narrowly missed several pedestrians on the sidewalk and shattered the window of a drug store in the Grand Central Terminal building.

CHILDREN MUST BE ACCOMPANIED BY ADULT

Owing to the large number of young children who attended the last show given under the auspices of the emergency relief bureau in the Kingston Municipal Auditorium it was announced at the ERB today that hereafter no children will be admitted to these shows unless they are accompanied by their parents or guardian. The next show is the comedy "Friendly Enemies" to be given Thursday evening in the Auditorium.

FIRE IN LIVING ROOM OF HANSHROCK AVENUE HOUSE

While the family of Bernard Schuster of 173 Hansbrock avenue had gone out for the evening a neighbor discovered that fire had broken out in the living room and called the fire department. The fire started near one of the windows and before it was brought under control had damaged a radio and several pieces of furniture in the room. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Delays and Uncertainties In NRA Legislation Slow Up U.S. Trade and Industry

Taxpayers Opposed to Bill Abolishing Office Held Here By Loughran

A resolution characterizing special legislation, such as the bill just introduced in the Assembly by Assemblyman Hayes of Albany county, at the request of Arthur B. Ewig, county attorney, as "vicious and foreign to American ideals of government," will be presented to the Ulster County Taxpayers' Council at their meeting to be held at the Statyvacant Hotel tonight.

The resolution, which also restates the position heretofore taken favoring construction of roads by the towns, will be introduced by one of the leading members of the Council. It has the following to say regarding the attempt to secure control of the office of county superintendent of highways in Ulster county by changing the title to county engineer:

"The Ulster County Taxpayers' Council opposes the special bill that has been introduced in the Legislature abolishing the office of County Superintendent of Highways of Ulster county and creating a new office to be known as County Engineer.

"The Council has confidence in and respect for the Court of Appeals and feels that the decision of the highest court ought to be carried out in spirit and letter and is opposed to any special legislative action tending to nullify or thwart the decision of the Court.

"As a broad principle of government the Council opposes special bills in general, considering such bills vicious and foreign to American ideals of government."

The recovery coordinator said codes for barber shops and laundries with their 435,000 workers were not in operation today. Then he named seven other service trades codes affecting nearly 1,500,000 workers which he said had been suspended except as to minimum wages, maximum hours and labor's collective bargaining guarantee.

During the examination, Richberg said neither the federal trade commission nor the commerce department was equipped to administer the recovery act. Transfer of NRA to one of these agencies had been suggested by some senators.

Richberg testified that neither the codes nor that the dominant large groups in industries wrote them was correct.

He said the codes usually were presented by trade associations or code committees in which independent groups were represented.

"But," he added, "a single code was adopted in the form it was brought in" because they were subjected to criticism from the labor, consumer and industrial boards.

"Was any attention paid to the recommendations of the labor or consumer boards?" Senator Costigan (D-Colo.) asked.

"Continually," Richberg replied, adding that codes were often held up for weeks to consider their proposals.

Costigan said there was "an impression" the boards had not been successful.

"It is not correct," Richberg replied. "The achievements of both were quite considerable."

Discussing the cotton textile code, the first adopted, Richberg said its provision for a 40-hour week was a "major achievement" marking a "landmark" in industrial relations.

Richberg contended NRA had brought a tremendous increase in the outlay by industry for wages and resulted in re-employing 2,000,000 men.

Snow Removal Job First Day Loughran Was Back on His Post

Storm Close on Heels of Debate by Supervisors Whether There Was Sufficient Money in Snow Removal Fund To Last Out The Season.

After several springlike days winter paid a return engagement to Ulster county Thursday and left behind from four to six inches of snow. Temperatures which have been in keeping with spring suddenly disappeared and thermometers again registered as low as 10 above zero during Thursday night.

In some places the snow drifted and the county as well as the city snow removal equipment was called out. County Superintendent of highways James F. Loughran, who was reinstated to his former position at midnight Wednesday found himself faced with a snow removal job before he had completed his first day back on the job from which he was removed last April by the Democratic members of the board of supervisors. Reinstated by an order of the court he took over the duties of the office Thursday.

The snow storm came close on the heels of a heated debate in the board of supervisors as to whether there was sufficient money in the snow removal fund to last out the season. The minority party charged the Democrats had spent some $60,000 during the winter months and charged that the snow removal fund was overdrawn to the extent of about $18,000. Supervisor Elsworth of Esopus sought to have $30,000 put to the credit of the snow removal fund so that the overdraft of $18,000 could be met and still there would be a balance in the fund to take care of emergencies which might arise between now and May first. His claim was that when the overdraft was met there would be $2,000 in the fund to meet emergencies and to clean up snow fences and do other work such as sanding hills and curves in the event of sleet and ice. One snow storm he said would finish the fund and leave Mr. Loughran "in a hole."

However the majority members voted but $20,000 for the snow removal fund.

At the time of the passing of the resolution paying $20,000 to the credit of the fund supervisor Elsworth of Marlborough attacked the Elsworth amendment, calling for $30,000 and stated that no such fund should be created now that the backlog of which was broken and the fund is now running on both sides of the ledger.

Elsworth pointed to the famous blizzard of 1927 and after late March storms and alleged that the snow should be prepared to meet such emergencies. Within 24 hours after this debate came the storm, fortunately not so severe as the famous blizzard of 1927 but a snow storm which required the snow removal equipment to move. The question is how much of the $20,000 snow removal fund remains in the snow removal fund now and what will be done in the future should more storms come.

Committee Approves Bill

Washington, March 8 (AP)—After one day's vote, the House Labor Committee today approved, 7 to 6, the London unemployment bill, which would set a precedent for similar legislation in other countries.

Richberg Warns The Senate Finance Committee That Job of Cutting Down Vast Code Structure Is Up to Congress.

LISTS EIGHT CODES

Recommends Lines for the Future Codification of Industries Engaged in Interstate Commerce.

Washington, March 8 (AP)—A warning that delays and uncertainties over NRA legislation were slowing up trade and industry was given the Senate Finance Committee today by Donald Richberg, director of the National Emergency Council.

His statement was made to an overflowing committee room as he pivoted in his chair to answer questions in a searching cross-examination by the committee's entire membership.

Talking in an easy voice and gesturing but putting squarely on Congress the job of cutting down the vast code structure along administration-recommended lines of holding future codification to industries engaged in or affecting interstate commerce.

This was his reply to the committee's request for a list of codes to be dropped under the new definition.

But first Richberg listed eight codes affecting 1,875,000 employees which already have been partially or entirely suspended by administrative action.

Names Codes Suspended

The recovery coordinator said codes for barber shops and laundries with their 435,000 workers were not in operation today. Then he named seven other service trades codes affecting nearly 1,500,000 workers which he said had been suspended except as to minimum wages, maximum hours and labor's collective bargaining guarantee.

During the examination, Richberg said neither the federal trade commission nor the commerce department was equipped to administer the recovery act. Transfer of NRA to one of these agencies had been suggested by some senators.

Richberg testified that neither the codes nor that the dominant large groups in industries wrote them was correct.

He said the codes usually were presented by trade associations or code committees in which independent groups were represented.

"But," he added, "a single code was adopted in the form it was brought in" because they were subjected to criticism from the labor, consumer and industrial boards.

"Was any attention paid to the recommendations of the labor or consumer boards?" Senator Costigan (D-Colo.) asked.

"Continually," Richberg replied, adding that codes were often held up for weeks to consider their proposals.

Costigan said there was "an impression" the boards had not been successful.

"It is not correct," Richberg replied. "The achievements of both were quite considerable."

Discussing the cotton textile code, the first adopted, Richberg said its provision for a 40-hour week was a "major achievement" marking a "landmark" in industrial relations.

Richberg contended NRA had brought a tremendous increase in the outlay by industry for wages and resulted in re-employing 2,000,000 men.

"Doubtful Provisions"

But under close cross-examination by Senator La Follette (Pro-Wis.) he conceded also that the present code under which the codes were drafted resulted in approval of many codes with "doubtful provisions."

Senator Black (D., Ala.) asked what definite formula had been followed to prevent large concerns dominating small ones and "imposing" codes on the latter. He referred specifically to the steel code.

Richberg said the steel code committee was "representative by overwhelming majority of the industry."

"There was very little problem there," he added. "Our greatest problem there was the code itself."

He said there had been instances where minorities had demanded "wholly disproportionate" representation on code authorities compared with the volume of business done.

Generally, Richberg testified, the small interests had been protected against domination by larger units.

Capacity Crowd Present

A capacity crowd listened to Richberg's match figures with Senator La Follette (Pro-Wis.) to show effect of NRA.

La Follette offered statistics he said showed little change in employment and wages between December 1932 and December 1934.

Richberg countered with figures showing that in a group of major industries manufacturing sagged jumped from $54,000,000 in 1932 to $68,000,000 a week between June 1933 and December 1934.

He contended this was a 27 per cent jump in output.

Holding a sign and shouting with the new hand and continuing with the other, the administration spokesman exchanged arguments with Richberg as a down argument outburst.

20 Policemen to Get Policy Subpoenas

New York, March 8 (AP).—Subpoenas for twenty policemen were prepared today as the district attorney's office sought to learn what connection existed between the police force and the policy, or "numbers game," racket.

Fourteen other persons, including lawyers, were already under subpoena to appear before the grand jury today in its investigation of the policy and vice rackets.

Samuel Marcus, special assistant district attorney who is directing the inquiry, said he sought to question the policemen before deciding whether they would be sent before the jury. He said some time ago that agents for the Society for the Prevention of Crime had seen 25 policemen entering the Harlem headquarters of the policy racketeers.

State and Albany police meanwhile hunted for cohorts of Dutch Schultz, former beer baron and now reputed policy king. The officers were determined to root gangsters out of the up-state area as an aftermath of what they said was an attempt to take Schultz's lawyer for a "ride."

J. Richard Davis, who supposedly was to be the seventh gang gun victim since the investigation opened, returned from Albany to New York. He is one of those to be questioned today.

Magistrate Anna Kromb, before whom many vice cases come, said she would recommend to Mayor La Guardia that the women's courts be abolished. She described them as "rotten to the core" and proposed in their place a sociological court free from racketeering aspects.

District Attorney William C. Dodge said that lawyers who refuse to tell who hired them could and would be prosecuted. In this way he hopes to learn who are the "higher-ups." Many prisoners have admitted they did not know who retained their counsel.

Hugh Elwyn on Honor Role

Schenectady, March 8.—Two hundred and sixteen undergraduates received an average of 80 or more for the second marking period at Union College and thus qualified for the Dean's List, it was announced by Dean Charles F. F. Garis. There are 64 seniors, 33 juniors, 68 sophomores, and 45 freshmen, on twenty-seven percent of the total enrollment of the college, on the Dean's List for the second marking period. Hugh R. Elwyn, '35, of Woodstock, was among the 64 seniors who were mentioned on the high honor roll. He prepared for Union College at the Kingston High School.

Old Timer Pats Self On Back as Scrivener

As I take pen in hand, fer to address Yourself & Readers, You don't generally see this here form of starting a letter any more, though in my younger days 'twas common enuff. A handy expreshun, too, and folks of this day and age naturally feel the loss of same in their writin'. Many air like myself, they kin indite a letter fast rate effen they once get going, but find it kinder hard to lead off. So, taking pen, etc., were not only a handy formula but saved a heap of hemming & hawin' to boot. During later years, folks sorter got the idee that it looked and sounded low-brow, with the result that they most likely substitute with some still sapper statement, sech ez I hev bin too busy ter write sooner, or I am the world's most miserabul correspondent, & so forth. Besides, sum make a practice of type writing or dictatin' their letters, and machine is probably too heavy fer to take in hand though I hev heard that sum hev a little one sech ez kin be toted in a spekul made satchel. No more, then, about this pertickler subjeck. Better hev your man make a new parrygraft fer what I hev next ter say.

Mild weather today and frost leaving ground right fast. Jest the hint of Spring and folks air enuff fed up, ez they say, on Winter, fer to take that hint with no questhuns asked. Biled maple say, this day & made 4 gals. of A-1 clear syrup besides totin' 8 pails of same from trees, an hour or so on woodpile and the usual barn chores. At my age this makes fer stiff joints and a tired back, though time was when yrs. truly done all sech work and then was redy fer ter step forth into saaslety ontell mebbe long towards midnight. Yessir, syrup making air a deal of hard labor ez well ez quite sum pleasure. Stuff sells good but pays only at the rate of a dollar a day effen the truth be told. A feller burns up enuff trashwood under the pans ter keep sum fambles warm all winter. I hev an order fer five pounds maple sugar from an old lady, older yet than myself, also others who 'are parshul to new maple products but won't stand fer any brown sugar in same. So many folks get taken in by the adulterated stuff that they naturally come to get a bit leery of maple syrup generally. I doubt very much, Mr. Ed, effen I hev ever bin sarved with reel maple on my pancakes when in the city fer a spell & eating at one place or another. By the way, soft sugar, a leetle warmish, beats syrup all ter holler on cakes to my mind. This jist hits the right spot, fer a fact.

My idee this time was to tetch on current topics fer a change. So many things a doing, however, that tain't easy to know jest where to start. Airplane suicides, the latest fad, five of 'em being writ about during the past week or so. Personally, I should want to shuffle off this mortal coil mightly bad, fer to do so in this fashion. Nossir, never keered to sore aloft even fer pleasure, let alone fer teetotal releef frum my troubles. Sum ez does so probly aims ter be spektakler, while others no doubt figger that the swift drop threw space takes their breath out and fetches 'em unconshus, so they feel no pain when striking terra furmy fer the last time. A gal leaped frum the Empire bldg., too, I see by the paper, she being miserabul in love affairs & fully a quarter of a mile drop to the street at thel. These dispondent ones of course never think about the feelin' of sech ez hev to pick 'em up arter havin' done their rash ack, otherwise they might take sum other way outen their trials & tribulashuns. Air not them your sentiments, Mr. Ed?

The New Deal, or NRA, whichever: Ruther a tetchy subjeck but one which hev becum poplar food fer conversashun of late. This noble experiment was to hev distributed money more ekwally but to date hev not done so; on tother hand the rich appear to be laying up more treasures on earth than afore, whilst the poor and middlin' poor air beginning ter forget what reel money looks like, so skeerce hev this commodity becom today. The government figgers bare out this here statement, though they must naterally hate to do so fer a fact. Folks hev been fair & square to see this plan hev time to work out fer the good of all concerned; yessir, Repubs ez well ez the Democrats kept still fer a long spell, a jawin' only to ther see no reel harm in taking a crack seelver about the matter, but now I or two at the methods, ez employed by powers that be, fer bringin' back them good old times again. Let 'em thrash this & other big matters out, effen they get reel mad or not; folks will feel a right smart better fer havin' got sarlin things off their chests. Free diskussion air a fast rate safety valve, and a heap more wholesome than a revolushun, fer instance. Nuff sed.

Yrs. Truly air no Communist, or Red, ez they say; nossir, folks on both sides of family hev been here for 200-300 years, & st for independence and all that. Still and nevertheless, I dew believe rich folks oughter be more keeful jest at present. Effen ther hev plenty wealth, and making more, keep same quiet & not show off afore less prosper feller citizens. Take them pictures in Sunday papers of folks sittin' on the sands of the beaches & most in their underclothes at thel, lookin' in' hanger and keef-free, ez therseel 20 milluns seed to be on relief; might be jest ez well seed effen they were not fer their own folly and laziness. Now, all right to go South and enjoy life, a brief spell, effen the money be handy fer same; you and me would probly dew the same, but not much sense in advertisin' show newspaper pictures. Only ferments honest cinerally. Sour grapes, sum may say, but no, I be content ez be, the rheumatiz & all other bothers parshul to this climate notwithstanding. Jest alidin my sentiments, Mr. Ed.

Gangster killings: Grate wave of fakin' feller fer a ride and stirrin' up the streets with their darksomes. Not a very addishun, sech fer thel ridin' eithersechun, but yet much harm done, unless of course sum in-nercent bystander or guarden of the law air shot. Sort of a CCC gypsy moth eraddlycashun, only in this case the cost to taxpayers is less. Saves fadin' these lousies and payin' fer ther keep over a lengthy spell of durance vile, ez the poet sez. . . . Big vice war: fadin' women, policy games & the like. One is as old ez time an kin not be cured by spasmodick tempests in teapots, but should be controlled sensibly & reglar, as fer tother evil, the poor devils air hungerin' fer a leetle money, without which ter spend most all city folks are plum miserable. They see ther more fortun-ate feller-citizens with cars & jewelry, fine houses and good clothes ter ther backs, etc., and they must hev the same effen at all possible. So, they pinch and scrape fer to save a few pennies, the price of a chance on a big win of money, time arter time, ontell they becom plum crazy with this noshun & will dew most anything afore revvin' to go without playin' fer that lucky number. Even strong drink, effen a man air taken holt by it, onslaves him not ez much ez the gamblin' fever, when once in his blood.

State bill against heart-balm racket suits: a fast rate idee, to my mind. Modern gals ez play with fire hed oughter be good sports, ez they say, enuff fer to be good losers when burnt at the game. Old men, in many cases, are dum fools without money, but when they hev too much wealth they kin think up a dozen ways to make asses outen themselves. These heart balm racketeers hev done good in tonin' down sum old male nincompoops and causin' others to be more keeful what they dew. Trouble is that innercent & respect-ful famby men hev becom the prey of these unprincipled she-devils, sech ez toll not neither do they spin anything with while. Speshul security, old age penshuns & the like: Well, yes and no. Done with plenty of good hoss-sence, all right and proper, but with a fanfare of trumpets & a come all ye who hev a noshun, with ther air goin' a bit too fur. One feller sez to me, Eben, two hundred a month fer each feller, every old person will set a powerful sight of money to circulate in jig time and bring back prosperidy in no time. Well, mebbe so. We might try a few more bilyun, jest fer luck. Sometimes, effen ye spend jest a leetle more, or work a mite harder, the results will come. Most of this big money probly does circulate, but as in case of an old feller's blood, it's feeble and the fingers still get numb at times. Mebbe, effen the pashunt will exercise and act spryer himself, his circulation will improve & finally becom normal.

Let's hope, howsomever, that they don't forget the farmer, pertickler the eastern farmer, who needs a leetle attenshun ez much ez the next feller.

His shushul security also hev becom a mite shakky & totterin'. He gets no releef, and effen he should ask fer the same would skeerably be favoured with so much ez a Bronx cheer, whatever that may be. Any farmer, old or young, could think up more ways ter spend money fast, & at once, than Methus-aleh, and would be more releefed in his mind by releef than a cat ez has been releefed from a steel woodchuck trap. Give each horny-handed son of the soil two hundred a month, or even the same year, and he will start to hollerin' that the millenium is here, take a hull day's vacation from work and otherwise show signs of mental balminess. The asyulums would be full in no time—and no tax-payers left behind to foot the bills.

Well, sir, to conclude, I am fer any sane medicine that will ease our common ills. Folks need help the wust way, and this mebbe is no time to split hairs over what & how to dew. We air our brother's keeper now, ez never afore, & must honor the responsibility.

Yours, & so Forth, OLD TIMER.

PATAKUNK.

The Knit-tex Coat 30

Weightless Warmth

● It is no accident that Knit-tex is America's most popular topcoat. The Knit-tex fabric has special virtues possessed by no other coat.

Soft and luxurious to the touch, Knit-tex provides snug warmth when the air is nippy, and weightless comfort in all kinds of weather, wet or dry.

Knit-tex takes a pounding and all the abuse you can give it, but still retains its fine smart lines. It's a sturdy coat, tailored with finesse.

And if you've a secret yearning for something unusual in color and pattern don't miss the new 1935 Knit-tex styles. You'll see something very subtle in color blending.

Tragic Tale of Tabors Ends in Wife's Death

Leadville, Colo., March 8 (AP).—The last chapter in the tragic tale of the Tabors, once masters of millions in gold, was unfolded today on the walls of a squalid mine shack where Elizabeth McCourt (Baby Doe) Tabor kept a lonely rendezvous with death. There in the laborious scrawl of an aged woman, visitors found a combination diary and calendar.

"Went to town," was written under the date of February 20. It was the last entry. What happened between that date and yesterday, when the frozen body of the 73-year-old woman was found in the one-room shack, no one knows.

Coroner James Corbett said she apparently had caught cold on her last trip to Leadville and had attempted to treat herself.

"Baby Doe," the faded beauty of the '80's, had kept the pledge she made more than a third of a century ago to her dying husband, the late United States Senator H. W. Tabor. He had whispered to her: "Never let go of the Matchless mine."

From it had come much of the $11,000,000 that brought Tabor from rags to riches.

Tabor had faith that the water-logged old shaft of the Matchless still held gold or silver and that one day a new bonanza would be struck in it, recouping the Tabor fortune which he lost in the panic of 1893 and before.

So his widow left almost penniless, went back to the Matchless and worked in rough overalls and a man's shirt.

Off and on through the years she has gone back there, defying on occasion with aid of a shotgun any efforts to put her off. The mine passed into other ownership in 1927 but she remained in her cabin "by right of homestead."

LEIBHARDT
Leibhardt, March 8.—Monticena DeWitt of Woodstock spent the week-end with his father at "Pine Grove Camp."

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Crossman and Mrs. Louis Hoff of Napanoch were callers at the home of the latter's mother, Mrs. J. Hornbeck, Saturday afternoon.

Friends are pleased to hear of the improvement of Mrs. Alex Brown, who has been ill at her home for some time.

The surprise party held at the Hornbeck home Saturday evening was well attended and greatly enjoyed. Refreshments of cake, coffee and sandwiches were served. Guests being present from Accord, Tabasco, Napanoch, Palentown and this vicinity.

Mrs. J. Hornbeck, accompanied by her son-in-law, Louis Hoff, of Napanoch, spent Monday in Cornwall where the former had been called to see her brother, Homer D. Terwilliger, who recently underwent a serious operation at the Cornwall Hospital. Best wishes are for a speedy recovery.

Henry S. DeWitt and son, Monticena, spent Sunday with his daughter, Mrs. Calvin E. Davis, and family of Kripplish.

Friends are sorry to hear of the recent illness of Kenneth Barley of Olive Bridge. It is hoped he will soon be improving.

Thomas and Priest Differ Over Banking

Washington, March 8 (AP).—A difference of opinion over parliamentary strategy in banking legislation developed today between Senator Thomas (D., Okla.) and Father Charles E. Coughlin, of Detroit, who have collaborated closely heretofore on measures concerned with money and credit.

Father Coughlin is pushing a bill introduced by Senator Nye (R., N. D.), to create a Central Bank and have it take over the Federal Reserve System.

Senator Thomas is friendly to the bill, but is supporting instead the measure presented by administration officials to centralize control over money and credit in the Federal Reserve Board. His support is based on the theory that it is as big a step as can be taken now.

The disclosure of this difference of opinion was the second of two new developments to focus attention on banking legislation here. Last night 65 economists who are members of the economists national committee on monetary policy issued a statement attacking the bank bill presented by the administration officials. They asserted that, if it were passed, it would "invite ultimate disaster for this country."

Among the signers was Oliver M. W. S. Sprague of Harvard, former special adviser to the treasury, who resigned because of disagreement with administration policy.

Senator Thomas said: "I am supporting the administration bill because it goes as far as we can go at one time."

STONE RIDGE.
Stone Ridge, March 8.—All members of the choir of the Reformed church are reminded of the weekly practice to be held on Friday at 8 o'clock at the parsonage.

Services at the Reformed church Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. under the leadership of L. D. Sahler, superintendent. Morning worship at 10:30 o'clock. The pastor, the Rev. C. Van Tol has chosen as his subject "Ashamed of Christ." At 7 o'clock the Sunday night forum will meet to continue the discussion on the topic, "Positive Christianity. The Religion for Humanity." A cordial welcome is extended to all who seek worship at these services.

The Ladies' Aid of the Reformed church met on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Don Gillespie.

Miss Lucille I. Hewitt, a teacher from the New York State Council of Religious Education was entertained on Tuesday at the M. E. parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Van Demark and daughters, Ruth, Thelma and Mary, attended a birthday party on Thursday evening last for Mrs. Vandemark's father, George Monroe, at his home in Kingston.

Mrs. DeForest Bishop spent Tuesday night with Mrs. Mae Krom of Kingston.

Ervin Schoonmaker has sold 12 fine thoroughbred cows to a man in Connecticut.

The Ladies' Aid of the M. E. Church will meet on Wednesday, March 13, at the home of Mrs. Alfred H. Smith of 68 West O'Reilly street, Kingston, at 2 p. m. Members are to come prepared to sew.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Beatty, Mrs. George Weeks, Mr. and Mrs. DeForest Bishop, Mrs. Roy Ransom, Miss Julia Hasbrouck, Miss Josephine Hasbrouck, Miss Phoebe Brink, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sahler and Reigh Sahler attended the funeral of Fred Stauderman in Kingston.

Services at the M. E. Church on Sunday: Church school promptly at 9 a. m. Divine worship at 10 a. m. when the pastor, the Rev. Roscoe Strivings, will bring a message to the juniors preceding the sermon of the morning. The Epworth League will meet at 7 p. m. Roy Ransom will be the leader on the topic "Parables of Jesus."

Cafeteria Supper at Stone Ridge.

The Ladies' Aid of the Stone Ridge Reformed Church will serve a cafeteria supper on Thursday evening, March 14, in the basement of the church, starting at 6 o'clock. Many delicious and appetizing foods will be served and charges will be very nominal. The public is asked to come to help the Ladies' Aid to make the supper a success.

Closest of friends are Actress Katherine Cornell and Beatrice Lillie, international comedy favorite now featured on her own NBC program. They have been pals ever since the days they went around with bare-knees and pigtails in Coburg, Ontario.

What State Legislature Is Doing Today

Albany, N. Y., March 8 (AP).—What the New York legislature is doing today:

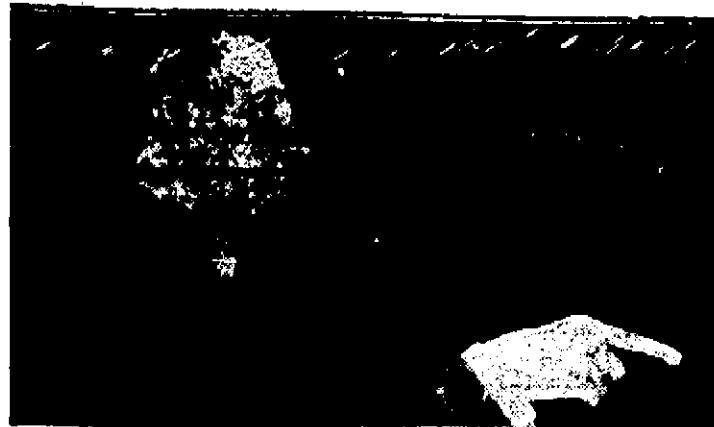

Senate meets at 10 a. m. and Assembly at 11 a. m. for perfunctory sessions. Introduction of bills and reports of committees only business. Joint utility investigating committee continues investigation of upstate Gas and Electric Co. panies in Senate chamber, 10 a. m.

Austria Boosts Cigar Smoking.

Vienna (AP).—The Austrian government's tobacco monopoly has organized a special corps of cigar experts to hand out free smokes and give beginners sound advice on how best to consume the weed. The object is to increase government revenue.

Spain's Orange Market Slumps.

Murcia, Spain (AP).—The orange market here hit rock bottom recently when shipments were halted by the government pending negotiation of a new Franco-Spanish commercial treaty. At one time the fruit sold for a cent a dozen.

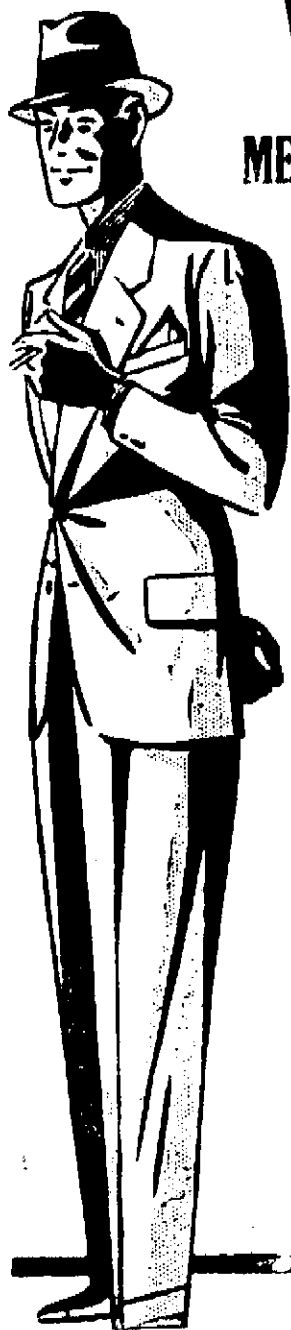

Donald Richberg is shown in three striking poses as he told his version of the NRA story to a senate committee. He recommended continuing NRA two years under defined and curtailed powers, and said that when Gen. Hugh Johnson bossed the NRA everybody else "acted in an advisory capacity." Justice Holmes: Yankee Philosopher

2. His Wisdom Tempered in Fire of Civil War

This is the second in a series of six articles.

Washington (AP)—Oliver Wendell Holmes was of the present and the future—except in his deep and vivid memories of the Civil War.

In law and philosophy, though his own life spanned so much of the nation's history, he marched with the times. His mind was open to its great developments and changes. But where he did hark back to the past was to recapture the clear call of the bugle, the rattle of musketry, and the pictures of waving battle flags.

"When once the ghosts of dead files of 30 years since begin to play in my head," he said in 1895, "the laws are silent."

Those memories of the clash of arms were profound and colored his speech and writings with military symbolism though he believed war to be the defense of an idea and not a thing to be glorified.

A Lieutenant From Harvard

He was only 20, tall, black-haired, and keen-eyed, when he took up arms as a blue-clad lieutenant so fresh from Harvard's halls that he composed the class poem in military camp.

His baptism of fire was not slow in coming. At Ball's Bluff he was knocked flat by a spent ball. When he recovered his breath he returned to the line to be pierced by a minnie ball which entered over the heart and came out on the right side.

Gallant that he was and, even then as in later life, doing and thinking things in the grand manner, he later told of his conversation with himself as he was ferried away through the night.

Again Wounded

"If I were Sir Philip Sidney, I should say take my comrade first—he is more sorely wounded than I. But I think I shall just let events take their course."

Less than a year later, then a captain, he was struck in the neck by a bullet in the second day's battle of Antietam. Skipped by stretcher

Holmes did remember, vividly, and called his savior to the study where they relived the memories of the battlefield's muck.

Once again the warrior returned to battle, this time to be struck in the heel at Marye's Hill, Fredericksburg, Va. For the third time he returned home to become, his father said, a great pet with the ladies.

Philosophy Of Life

Holmes, well again, became aide-de-camp on the staff of Gen. H. G. Wright and was at Fort Stevens, one of the numerous defense works encircling the national capital, when President Lincoln visited the lines there.

In the strife of war he learned what became part of his philosophy of life:

"That the joy of life is living, is to put all one's powers as far as they will go; that the measure of power is obstacles overcome; to ride boldly at what is in front of you, be it fence or enemy; to pray, not for comfort, but for combat; to keep the soldier's faith against the doubts of civil life, more besetting and harder to overcome than all the misgivings of the battlefield; to love glory more than the temptations of wallowing ease, but to know that one's final judge is one's self."

Martial figures of speech colored his decisions, his speech, and his actions. Meeting Justice McKenna on a crowded sidewalk, both squared away and momentarily fenced with their umbrellas, to shake them as swords and go their way without a word.

"No one could appreciate the potentialities of the English language," he once remarked, "until he had heard a Southerner search the heart of a mule."

Austrian Nazis In Reich Camps Pain Hitlerites

By M. K. WHITELEATHER

Munich, Germany (AP)—Armed and trained, but for the moment friendless, about 8,000 Austrian nazis still are in German camps awaiting that sunny morning when they can march home and turn their country into a nazi stronghold.

Around them a strong force could be built should events in Austria pave the way, or should Hitler change his policy of non-intervention in Austrian affairs.

They are all that remain in uniform of that famous Austrian legion which last summer was prepared to back the futile coup d'etat in Vienna which cost the life of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss. Their strength then was estimated at 50,000.

"They Steal Our Girls!" But since then both Austria and Germany have turned their backs and the Austrian nazis find themselves a real "foreign legion."

A year ago German nazis hailed them as heroes. Today, "they take our jobs and our girls," say many of those same Germans. Flat fights are frequent between resentful residents of the camp districts and men wearing the Austrian "SA" uniform with strawberry-colored tabs on their collars.

The Austrians frequently are shifted from camp to camp so as to lessen the chances of these encounters.

Thousands of legionnaires who took the precaution not to blast their bridges behind them, went back to Austria after the July fiasco. They were disgruntled over the German nazi's failure to follow through on the Vienna coup and openly talked about how they had been "let down."

Border Clashes Frequent The rest of those not now in uniform—the majority of the original legion—have been given employment in reich munitions factories, in land reclaiming camps and as agricultural laborers in Pomerania and East Prussia. Many of them are said to be working in munitions plants in Wuertemberg, Neuberg and Munich. Those in labor camps are chiefly in Papenburg, along the Netherlands frontier.

The uniformed Austrians are kept in nine camps under close supervision of German nazis. Seven of the camps are within "jumping off" distance of the Austrian border.

NOBILITY OF THE FLOW TITLE FOR NAZI BARON.

Berlin (AP)—The Reich's foreign minister, polished and suave Baron Constantin von Neurath, has been elevated to the real Nazi nobility—that of the furrow. In other words, he has become an "Erbbauer" hereditary peasant.

For 100 years or more the Neuraths have owned the Leinfelder Hof, a farming estate in Wuertemberg. His father owned it to tenants.

But because of the new farm laws, the baron has now shouldered the responsibilities of an "Erbbauer." Being otherwise engaged, he is allowed to leave the actual farming to a steward.

He has a 22 year old son, so the succession is assured.

Wink Helps Scotch Fire Fighters.

Glasgow (AP)—The town of Calder, bank includes milk in the regular equipment of its fire department, each fire laddie receiving a pint an hour while fighting a blaze because it is claimed the milk has a definite antiseptic value against the effects of smoke fumes.

Services Announced For Temple Emanuel

Services will be held at Temple Emanuel this evening at 7:30. Rabbi Bloom will preach on "The Road of the Ages" by Robert Nathan.

Bible and confirmation classes will meet at the rabbi's residence on Saturday morning at 10:30 and 11:30 respectively.

The adult class will meet on Tuesday evening, March 12, at the home of one of its members.

The Sisterhood will hold an evening meeting in the social hall of Temple Emanuel on Wednesday, March 13.

ANNUAL MEETING HELD BY MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The annual meeting of the Roundout Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. I. W. Scott on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Miss Grace Terwilliger led the devotional service.

Annual reports were presented by the treasurer and the secretaries, and the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. I. W. Scott; vice presidents, Miss G. H. Terwilliger and Mrs. Alice Metcalf; secretary, Mrs. H. G. Smith, and treasurer, Mrs. M. R. Coutant. The special offering from the dime bags was received and those who still have their bags are requested to hand them in as soon as possible. Miss Mary McCullough read a very interesting paper on Hawaii and its people, and Mrs. Mary Comstock read about the missionary work there.

At the close of this meeting the Ladies Aid Society held a brief session. The resignation of Mrs. John R. Monroe was accepted with regret, and Mrs. C. Heiselein was elected to fill out Mrs. Monroe's term of office. Other business matters were taken up and a pleasant social half-hour followed.

SIX YEARS OF SUFFERING ARE OVER

Elmira Lady Gained New Health and Strength Since Taking NU-ERB.

"I believe that no other medicine could have given me the results that I have obtained from Dr. French's NU-ERB," said Mrs. James Conklin, 513 Miller street, Elmira, N. Y.

"For six years I suffered agonies from stomach, kidney and liver trouble. My back ached all the time. I'd get dizzy spells, frequent headaches and I was a chronic victim of constipation."

"NU-ERB has given me the first and only results that I have had. The easy pains and indigestion have all been relieved. My kidneys are stronger, the pains have left my back and NU-ERB has also stopped those dreaded headaches, dizzy spells and now I feel as though I have more strength than I have had for several years."

NU-ERB is being specially introduced in Kingston by McEder Drug Stores.—Ad.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

By Associated Press

Horsecar Holdup Man
New York—When Thomas Cawley, 44, was arrested for the theft of two accordions, Detective Shevin recalled he had arrested the man in 1911.

The detective remembered the 1911 incident, he said, because the man had used a pistol to hold up a horsecar. Until then most robberies had been committed with the aid of blackjacks or clubs.

Couldn't Love Fifty
St. Louis—His wife's dogs—bull terriers—got all the cream from the milk at his home and he got what was left, Charles E. Ette testified in his divorce suit.

Mrs. Ette in a counter action said he had blackened her eyes and broken her nose. The court took the case under advisement.

A Joke on Mama
Chicago—It was a pretty good joke on mama, giggled Mrs. Nora Pelch's five-year-old daughter. She laughed with glee at the novel sight of her mother being locked in a closet despite her vigorous protests, but she couldn't understand who were the three men who shut mama up.

Mrs. Pelch was not so amused as her daughter by the trio, who made off with $158 after ransacking the apartment.

"Drives" Standing Car
Minneapolis—Even though he couldn't start his automobile, Sidney Listad, drew a 60-day workhouse sentence in municipal court for "driving while drunk."

When a man under the influence of liquor sits in his car, hits his wife and swings a crank at peacekeepers, it's driving while drunk, the court ruled.

The "Bum's Rush"
Portage, Wis.—Miss Spring is trying to give winter the "bum's rush" in this section.

At Wisconsin Delis, E. M. Jobb, a farmer, found six heads of cabbage growing in his garden through two inches of snow.

At Green Lake, Mrs. Ralph Smith picked a lavender pansy from a bed of flowers which recently was covered by a deep snow drift.

Carried on High Wind Another Snow Storm Blankets Kingston

Three Inches of Snow Fell Here—
Miniature Gale Drifts Snow to Depth of Two Feet in Places—
Street Department Out Early With Plows and Sander—City Given
Permission to Use Work Relief
Men on Snow.

Following the spring-like weather of Wednesday when a temperature of 65 degrees above zero was recorded here, the warmest so far experienced this year, the temperature began dropping in Kingston and the skies became overcast and shortly after 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon snow began falling here. During the late hours of the afternoon and early evening a miniature gale of wind swept through the city piling the falling snow into drifts, in some places several feet in depth. At midnight the recording thermometer registered 20 degrees above zero, and as the night advanced the weather grew steadily colder until at 5:45 o'clock this morning the thermometer touched a low of 14 degrees above zero.

Superintendent James Norton of the Board of Public Works got in touch with the weather bureau at Albany Thursday evening and was informed that a snowfall of 8 inches was forecast. He immediately got the snow plows out and then started the work of plowing the main streets. The streets were slippery where plowed and he also placed the sander at work at 9 o'clock and it continued at work sanding the hills and slippery spots in the streets until 1 o'clock this morning.

Mayor Heiselman telegraphed the State TELA in New York city Thursday evening asking if it were possible to use work relief men and trucks on snow removal, and this morning shortly after 10 o'clock he received a telephone call that it was okay to do so. Superintendent Norton informed the mayor that he would be able to use half a dozen trucks and about 25 to 30 men from the relief rolls to augment the city forces.

The mayor stated this morning that he had been informed by the superintendent that so far this year the city had exceeded its snow appropriation by about $1,500 which did not take into account the storm of last night. An appropriation of $10,000 for snow removal had been placed in the budget and to date the sum of $11,500 has been expended, which will be increased by the amount expended in taking care of the storm of last night.

"Heart Balm" Bill Favored in Indiana

Indianapolis, March (AP).—Indiana's woman legislator who believes her sex should not have the right to institute "heart balm" suits is about to see her ideas written into law.

Representative Roberta West Nicholson sat at a press table in the Senate of the Indiana General Assembly last night receiving congratulations after that body approved her bill, 31 to 15. Only House concurrence in amendments and the signature of Governor Paul V. McNutt remains to place the measure in the statute books.

The law will prohibit all civil causes of action for alienation of affections, for criminal conversation, for seduction of any woman over 21 years of age, and for breach of promise to marry. It will forbid the naming of the correspondent in divorce cases except at direction of the court.

Since the bill was introduced in the Indiana legislature, similar measures have been brought forward in several other states.

Hollywood Chieftains Show Tax Fight Ace

Hollywood, Cal., March 8 (AP).—An ace, hidden in the sleeve of Hollywood's movie chieftains, dropped out today.

It brought added weight to their threat to take the film industry out of California rather than submit to increased taxation, proposed in bills pending before the State legislature. A definite plan by which the colossal task might be accomplished was disclosed today. It embraced two major premises:

1. Removal of the huge stores of equipment during a two-year period, without appreciably interrupting the production schedules of any major studio.

2. Sacrifice of real estate properties, on which the studios are situated, or allowing them to revert to the state for taxes.

Robert Fairbanks, general manager of United Artists Studio, said such a plan has been in process of formulation for several years. Producers were working on a project to centralize all studios in Hollywood. The idea was designed to increase efficiency and speed and to cut production costs by housing all the major companies under one gigantic cooperative program.

"This, naturally, would have brought with it all the problems of actually moving the whole industry out of the state. Properties now owned and occupied would be abandoned, equipment would be moved.

"What we have been considering would be merely the same method, on a larger scale."

The first threat to take the movies out of California came from Joseph M. Schenck, president of United Artists, who proposed a wholesale move to Florida. He said state executives had offered the industry free land, and freedom from taxation for 15 years.

Verdicts for Taylors In Negligence Actions

In the negligence actions brought by Robert Taylor, Mrs. Taylor and Miss Taylor in supreme court to recover for personal injuries suffered in a motor car collision near Sloatsburg last May the jury returned verdicts for all three. Mr. Taylor was awarded $200, his wife $100 and the daughter $100. The actions were brought against Theophil Wolter of Woodcliff, N. J., driver of a Ford which collided with the Taylor Nash car. Wolter sought damages for his car in a counter claim and this was dismissed as was a fourth action which was added to the calendar and which involved Hyman Chantz, who was the owner of a third car involved in the accident. A. J. Cook appeared for plaintiffs Taylor who reside at Bloomington. The accident happened while the Taylors were returning home from New Jersey. Miss Taylor drove the Nash and was traveling north at the time. The other two cars were being driven south.

A libel action brought by George R. Birdsall, Jr., against William Plank, publisher in southern Ulster of a chain of newspapers, was taken up for trial Thursday. Plaintiff alleges that the defendant caused to be published an erroneous statement in his paper. He alleges that the statement erroneously charged him with a crime of which he was innocent. Plank contends that the whole thing was due to a typographical error of which he had no knowledge. Rusk & Rusk appear for plaintiff and A. D. and A. W. Lent appear for defendant.

NEWARK MAN TAKEN ILL IN POLICE HEADQUARTERS HERE

Frank Kirchner of 383 Hawthorne avenue, Newark, N. J., walked into police headquarters at the city hall on Thursday and dropped on a bench. The man at the desk saw that the man was very ill, and immediately called the Kingston Hospital to send over a physician. One of the internes was sent and advised that the man be removed to the hospital which was done. The police then sent a type message to the police department of Newark asking that the man's family be notified that he was very ill and in the hospital here.

BARBARA BELL FASHION PATTERNS

Pattern No. 1608-B

Backless Dress for Sunshine Wear

Satisfying variety enters the summer sports wardrobe under the health-inspiring classification of sunshine frocks.

With their gay colors, trick lines, halter-necks, and minor details of chic the mode is expected, by summertime, to spread itself into other locales than the beach, the tennis court, water-crafts, and country clubs.

This model is particularly smart looking. The halter is made to fit the neck like a collar, and to fasten with a button at center-back. The front is arranged in a soft drape, stitched in place, and fitted, where necessary, with darts. The ends are free at the immediate back, crossing one another, and turning back to button on the belt. The skirt is plain with a point extending up the front to where the halter and belt are stitched to it.

Large buttons are used to fasten the dress securely at the back. A deep pleat down the center supplies necessary feminine fulness.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1608-B is designed in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 and 40. Corresponding bust measurements 20, 22, 24, 26, 28 and 40. Size 16 (34) requires about 3 1/2 yards of 36 inch material.

Tomorrow: A French porter's smock.

MODES of the moment

With suits assured, milady turns to view the new blouses.

Liana Merwin

Blouses and suits go hand in hand and from the best of sources this is to be the strongest suit season ever. Blouse interest naturally runs high and the market is overflowing with smart, new styles in both dressy and tailored models. Sheer, crisp feminine blouses with jabot treatments, lace, ruffles, cording or pleating for trim, are one story—while plaids, checks, polka-dots in linen, gingham, seersucker or pique make up another type of suit blouse. At left is pictured a plaid tuck-in shirt of gingham. Much is being said of native colorings in all lines of women's apparel—and it is especially so in the plaid gingham used in these blouses. A club collar, wooden buttons and a flap pocket are trimming details. The sleeve is short and slit and it has a sporty action back.

The frilly blouse of organdie at right shows a definite regency trend with its high pleated stand up collar. Self-pleating trims the bow at high throat line, the bodice front and cuffs of the half sleeves. Glass buttons close the blouse at front.

MENUS OF THE DAY

Two Women Killed By Skidding of Car

Goshen, N. Y., March 8 (AP).—Trencherous ice today was responsible for the death of two women and the serious injury of another, following the skidding of an automobile in which they were riding into the path of a milk truck, eight miles north of here yesterday.

The accident occurred on an icy hill when the women were returning to Middletown from Maybrook. Authorities who investigated the collision said the car, operated by Miss Anna Griffen, a school teacher of Maybrook, skidded across the highway into the path of the truck. The dead are Mrs. Mary May, 69, and Mrs. Bertha McElroy, 56, both of Middletown.

The driver of the truck, Paul Decker, 35, of Chester, was not held. Miss Griffen was in serious condition in Goshen Hospital.

The average man believes in the church. He is consistent and attend.

Ruth Roseway is home from school suffering with the measles.

Mr. Conklin and Betty Tompkins are the latest victims of the grip epidemic.

Mrs. J. F. Emerick was at Kingston Tuesday and spent the afternoon with Mrs. Richard Kromer.

Shakespeare's Sally

Sally Rand's fan dancing took an Oriental turn when she posed in this discreet Japanese costume. While her fans and bubbles put her in the limelight, she says her real love is Shakespeare and she wants to play Portia in "The Merchant of Venice." (Associated Press Photo)

"I SUFFERED WITH CONSTIPATION" FOR SIXTEEN YEARS"

Then ALL-BRAN Brought Relief to Mr. McNeil

We quote from his unsolicited letter: "I suffered with constipation for 16 years. Finally, I started using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in connection with other nourishing foods."

"I consider myself a well man at this time, not having had an attack for over two years. I am sure ALL-BRAN helped wonderfully by overcoming constipation."—Mr. L. M. McNeil, Lockwood, W. Va.

"Constipation due to insufficient 'bulk' in meals."

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides gentle "bulk" to aid digestion. Also vitamin B and iron.

This "bulk" resists digestion better than the fiber in fruits and vegetables, so it is more effective. ALL-BRAN continues to get results when used for months.

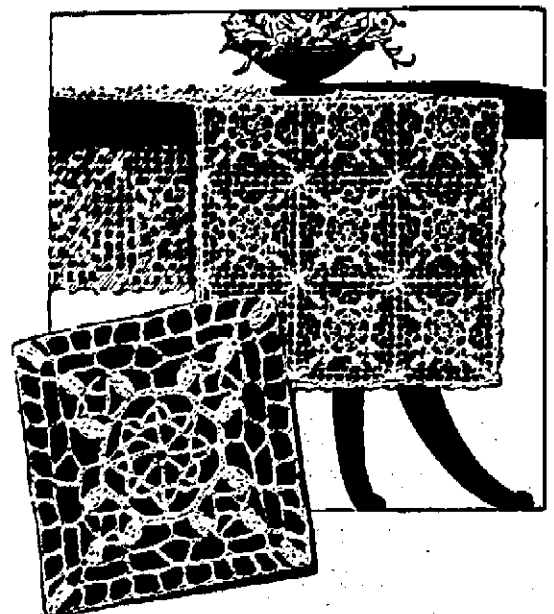

Isn't this food safer than risking potent medicines? Two tablespoons of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. If seriously constipated, use with each meal. See your doctor, if you do not get relief.

Use as a cereal with milk or cream, or in cooking. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

'Entente Sees Hint Of Hapsburgs Lurking Behind Vienna Curtsies

Vienna Society Bends Knee To Him

Hapsburg uniform came back, the old political creed of "all power emanates from God" supplanted the post-war doctrine of power emanating from the people.

Titles Present At Ball

At the elaborate City of Vienna ball, revived by the Schuschnigg government after a lapse of 21 years, there not only were seven Hapsburg archdukes and other important persons of title present, but the whole affair had the atmosphere of a royal ball.

Although President Miklas, Chancellor Schuschnigg and other members of the government were there, the dominant figure of the evening was the elderly Archduke Eugene, ranking representative of the Hapsburg dynasty here and frequently mentioned for the post of regent, in event Austria officially becomes a monarchy before young Archduke Otto is ready to be enthroned in Vienna.

A fanfare of trumpets announced the entry of Eugene into the great ballroom, and archduchesses and princesses curtained before him in the old imperial manner.

Little By Little

What critics in the Little Entente countries describe as the "old Austrian technique of a little at a time" is graphically illustrated by such restoration of social ceremonies, they allege. The same "little at a time" technique was used in the destruction of the post-war Austrian democratic regime to make room for the present authoritarian government.

The semi-official Czechoslovakian journal "Prager Presse," opines that the next "little step" toward restoration will be to bring back to Austria the body of the late Emperor Charles, Otto's father, who died in exile on the island of Madeira.

"One can already see the funeral train, draped in black, halting at every Austrian station, with the cortege later proceeding through the streets of Vienna, through a lane formed by hundreds of thousands of kneeling women, toward the Hapsburg vault under the Kapuziner church, which is already being remodeled in preparation."

"Neighborly" Warnings

However, as Czechoslovakian and Yugoslavian foreign ministers have repeatedly warned, there is a point beyond which even a "little by little" program cannot go without precipitating real conflict. Most outspoken in his warnings has been Prime Minister Yefitch of Yugoslavia, whose curt "any attempt to restore the Hapsburg inevitably means blood," needs no explanation.

Meanwhile, no one yet has insulted the monarchist loyalty of Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg by suggesting he would deliberately refuse to carry out a Hapsburg policy, whether the orders came from the emperor here or a chateau at Steenockerreel, where Archduke Otto is in exile.

Latent royalist feeling in Vienna has come more openly to the fore since Archduke Eugene, the first Hapsburg permitted to return to Austria, has been going about the capital. Officials of the "Christian authoritarian state" which Engelbert Dollfuss evolved, have taken a back seat when the archduke has appeared at social functions.

Suspicion widespread

Vienna (AP)—Ballroom curtsies and building renovations are wrinkling diplomatic brows in the Danubian countries.

For behind a curtsy may lurk a kingdom, and the renovation of an old church may turn out to be the facade concealing restoration of an empire.

To many a foreign tourist in Vienna—particularly if the tourist be feminine—the sight of a princess curtsying low before an archduke at an official function may be merely a charming and romantic reminder of old imperial days.

And workmen renovating the front of a historic church may be part of the national program for unemployment relief.

But to statesmen and ardent patriots from Little Entente countries—Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Rumania—such things are sharp pain and annoyance.

For the suspicion is widespread in those countries, whose boundaries include large sections of the former Hapsburg empire, that Austria is edging inch by inch, uniform by uniform, day by day and curtsy by curtsy closer to a restoration of the pre-war Austria-Hungarian empire of the Hapsburgs.

Little more than a year ago members of the Hapsburg family could not live in Austria without forswearing their dynastic rights, and practically all of them preferred to live in exile. Gradually, however, along with the change from democratic to authoritarian government, the old

LAD OF 8 BAKES CAKES

AND WANTS TO BE CHEF.

Toledo, Ohio (AP)—A lad who knows his way about in any housewife's kitchen is eight-year-old Robert Sweet of Toledo.

He's only in the second grade at school, but at home his mother, Mrs. Charles Sweet, says he's just about a graduate cook. He was three, she says, when he first startled her by turning out a delicious pie crust.

Nowadays, Robert specializes in fancy cakes, pies and cookies, with an occasional noodle dinner. While Mrs. Sweet admits she has helped the boy, she says his ability comes naturally and that he already has surpassed her.

When he grows up, Robert says he wants to be a chef—and a cowboy. If such an arrangement can be worked out.

SHIRTS FINISHED 11c

You see them everywhere. In the shops. At the shows. Around the bridge table. Happy housewives doing the things they want to do—enjoying themselves—taking life easy one day a week. Smart women. They know a "bargain" when they see it. They know that by using Thrifty Wash—the new home washing service—they're actually saving money. Do you wonder they all look forward to "washday"? It really means "play day" for them.

What could be easier—or quicker? Think of this. Instead of spending a day in the damp, chilly basement, wrestling with heavy, wet clothes... instead of waiting yourself out... taking chances with your health... simply gather up your wash and phone us to call for your bundle. That's a modern washday for you. All over in five minutes. And the rest of the day is yours. Think of this, too. Your clothes will be washed beautifully clean in creamy, rich suds of purest soap. They will be rinsed as many as six times in clear, rain-soft water. They will be sent back to you with the flat work ironed. And don't worry about the expense, either. Thrifty Wash only costs 98c for a 14-pound bundle. Try Thrifty Wash—just once. You'll never go back to old-fashioned washdays in your home again.

Any day is Washday when you use THRIFTY WASH... The smart thing to do is to decide which day in the week you want for yourself, then make that your washday.

CAPITAL NEWS

HOLLISTER STURGES, JR.

Louis A. Cuvillier, who boasts the longest membership in the Assembly chamber, has had introduced a bill for a new cigar stand in the capitol building. Think of that, a special act of the legislature to bring smoke nearer to Mr. Cuvillier's room where he has probably spoken more words than any present or previous member in state officialdom.

Byrne-Killgrew Bill.

It looks now, judging from the hearing on unemployment insurance, that the Byrne-Killgrew measure will be quickly enacted before this session adjourns. This has been the hope over the past five years by employees; the dreaded nightmare of employers, as these latter have to foot the bill under present stipulations. It is a question of labor winning a battle over capital and big business. New York steps out in front to lead the union in this enterprise. It reminds us of a phrase used in Donald Richberg's famous speech of "Damn the torpedoes, go ahead!"

"Socialism."

Senator Frederic Bontecou from Poughkeepsie has been blasting Democrats as Socialists, or at least on the verge of government classified with this nomenclature. His remarks that rocked the Senate chamber were pointed at Democratic legislation with regards to the liability and rehabilitation bills that is under Democratic sponsorship. He made a formal statement to this effect last week, and has recently come out on the floor with further denunciations. He feels that governmental activities under present proposals are infringing too much with private business. His inferences included Washington activities as well. It is expected that he has in mind to leave business alone, while other trend of thought is to run private enterprise by giving it a lift. Then some people brand politicians as being in public life because they cannot make a success out of private life. Draw your own conclusion. There are always two schools of thought at least on every issue. Once they have been presented the public will choose and public choice, according to our Democratic form of government, will predominate. The answer is the party now in power. It seems that we should back those we put in this position, even though they might not have been our personal selection.

Unanimous.

To change the order of business at a meeting it is customary for one so inclined to ask unanimous consent. Yesterday a request was so made; a half dozen objected, and still the change was executed. Just another example of how the "steamroller" works.

"Conscience Fund."

Comptroller Morris S. Tremaine announced yesterday that he had received $200 from a troubled contributor to the state's "conscience fund." A single message came with it: "Restitution to the state. Will explain later." Mr. Tremaine's only comment was as he turned the money into the treasury. "Yesterday was the first day of Lent."

Japan's Studious Monarch Creates Wild Bird Haven In Walled Palace Garden

By GLENN BABE.

Tokyo, (P).—An emperor's enthusiasm for biological research has created in the heart of Tokyo, third largest city of the world, a bird refuge that must be unique.

Emperor Hirohito, long noted as one of the keenest students of biology in Nippon, has caused hundreds of bird shelters to be built in the fine old trees of the beautiful Fushimi Garden, the wooded parkland that surrounds his palace.

Scores of thousands of birds find homes there each year, especially during the spring and autumn, when wildfowl are migrating.

Scientists Probe Work.

The monarch has taken full advantage of this collection of laboratory material for study of bird habits, and Japanese scientists have asserted that his majesty's notebooks contain valuable additions to the science of ornithology.

Especially interesting, it is said, are the emperor's observations of the folkways of the rare gray starling and the migrating habits of many varieties of ducks. Thousands of these fowl find shelter in the Imperial refuge each spring and autumn. More than 100 rare mandarin ducks, hatched in the palace refuge, live there the year round.

Although surrounded by the throb and clangor of one of the world's busiest and noisiest cities, the garden itself is a haven of quiet, peace and security. It is filled with splendid trees of many varieties, many of them hundreds of years old, and from it all the ordinary run of humanity is excluded.

Prefers Study to Command.

It makes up most of the Imperial palace enclosure, a diamond-shaped area of approximately one square mile, shut off from modern Tokyo by its broad moats, and hoary stone walls built in the sixteenth century.

Although nearly all of Emperor Hirohito's public appearances are in the role of monarch and generalissimo of his puissant army and navy, and his people rarely see him except in the uniform of field marshal or admiral of the fleet, it is widely known he is more the gentle student of science than the war lord.

Knows Sea Life Also.

Research is his principal hobby, and nearly all the time he can snatch from the duties of ruling 100,000,000 subjects in the performance of which he is highly conscientious—he spends in his laboratories.

His studies, it is said, center on the group of marine life which includes Emperor Hirohito of Japan, usually shown as commander of army and fleet, is said to prefer the quiet of his scientific study to the blare of trumpets and crash of saluting guns.

jellyfish, sea anemones and corals, have been especially exhaustive and are said to have contributed much to knowledge of the subject. The emperor also gives munificently from his privy purse for the promotion of biological research by Japanese scholars.

Mark H. Shank Dies In Electric Chair Today

Tucker Prison Farm, Ark., March 8 (P).—Mark H. Shank, 43, former Ohio magistrate, died in the electric chair at 7:14 a. m. today for the poisoning of a family of four in Saline county, Ark. in August, 1933.

Before 50 persons who jammed the electrocution chamber, Shank maintained to the end the calm indifference which marked his residence of more than a year in condemned cell.

He made no statement.

Tall, thin and sharp-featured, Shank seated himself in the chair at 7:05 and five charges were turned on in quick succession. He was pronounced dead by the three attending physicians at 7:14 o'clock.

His death warrant, the fifth issued by this state, called for execution at dawn, but a bright sun was well up and streaming through the narrow windows of the death chamber when his body was unstrapped from the chair and carried out.

He was convicted late in 1933 for the murder of Alvin Colley, a professional associate, who with Mrs. Colley and two Colley children died after drinking poisoned grapejuice which Shank served at a picnic lunch.

Shank said in a reputed confession shortly after his arrest that Colley had attempted to blackmail him in connection with a case pending in Ohio. Shank had practiced law in Akron for 15 years and was once a suburban magistrate.

Four-year-old Clyde Colley was the only member of the family to survive. He pointed to Shank as the "man who put something in the grapejuice." On the child's statement Shank was charged with murder. Shank pleaded insanity but was convicted and the death penalty was fixed.

Shank's attorneys tried vainly to force a sanity hearing. They contended he had become insane in prison. However, on the eve of his execution, Shank shook off a year-long stupor and talked to the warden.

His wife aided his defense at the trial. She collapsed when the verdict was returned. Because of illness she was unable to come here to see her husband before the execution.

John McCormack, world famous Irish tenor, whose broadcasts over an NBC-WJZ network have been alternated with concerts by John Charles Thomas, noted American baritone, for the past two seasons, will return to the microphone for his fourth series on Wednesday, March 13, at 9:30 p. m., E. S. T.

Transfer of Interest.
Tokyo, March 8 (AP).—The foreign office announced today the agreement for transfer of Soviet interest in the Chinese Eastern Railway to Manchoukuo probably would be initiated by the diplomatic representatives of the two nations next Monday.

Locks Are Now Placed On The Doors of Common Council Chambers Here

The other evening some one attempted to tear down the American flag that is hung in the rear of the rostrum in the common council chambers on the third floor of the city, and that fact as well as other incidents has led the city authorities to the decision that it would be wise to place locks on the council chamber doors. This has been done, and the only time they will be unlocked will be when there is a meeting of the aldermen in the chambers, or if the building committee of the council allows the chambers to be used for a public meeting. Since the rebuilding of the city hall the doors to the council chamber have been kept unlocked so that anyone visiting at the city hall would have the opportunity of viewing the beauty of the room, one of the finest council chambers in any city of the size of Kingston.

Davidson Death Case May Go to Grand Jury

Pinehurst, N. C., March 8 (AP).—After an eight-day investigation the strange death of Mrs. Elva Stetler Davidson, young heiress, remained as baffling today as it was when the body was found sprawled on the floor of her automobile in the family garage.

As the result of an "open verdict" returned by the coroner's jury yesterday, the investigation was right back where it started. The jury reported that Mrs. Davidson died of carbon monoxide poisoning "under circumstances unknown to the jury."

The coroner's jury, with its verdict, put the case back in the hands of Solicitor Rowland S. Pruett, who before the formal inquest started said he was convinced Mrs. Davidson was murdered.

"So far as I am concerned," Pruett said, "any further action in the case will be up to the grand jury."

Our Growing Population.
The following births have been reported to the Board of Health:

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Edge of Eddyville, a daughter, Jeanne Marie, at Benedictine Hospital.

Girl Scouts ULSTER COUNTY COUNCIL

High Falls.
The Scouts are very busy with their second class work. The majority of girls have passed first aid, bed making and table setting. The tenderfoots are ready to be installed by the captain. A new secretary, Miss Beatrice Tannebaum, and a treasurer, Miss Harry, were elected recently. Parents' night was a great success with the boys and girls doing their parts very well.

The county leader, Miss Eaton, gave a speech on Scouting.

MARKET FOR FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

New York, March 8 (AP).—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets).—The following quotations represent prices on sales by commission merchants and other original receivers in the New York city downtown wholesale district up to 8 a. m.

Western New York yellow onions U. S. No. 1 in 50 lb. sacks realized $2.25-35 for the best and $2-2.15 for poorer.

Jobbing transactions on bulk consignments of Danish white cabbage on the basis of $40-45 per ton. Sacks of 50 lbs. sold at 90c-1.00, occasionally as high as $1.10 for the best.

Western New York topped washed carrots in 50 lb. sacks sold from 60c-70c and unwashed in 100 lb. sacks 90c-1.00 for the best.

The apple market was rather dull.

Alyce Continues To Show Improvement

Fall River, Mass., March 8 (AP).—Little Alyce Jane McHenry continued to show progress today in her battle for health.

The 10-year-old girl, known only in her home city of Omaha a month ago, but now the object of nationwide solicitude because of her courage and her smile, still was improving her doctors reported in a bulletin issued at 8 a. m. It read:

"Temperature 100, pulse 100, respiration 20. Fairly restful night. Progress continues."

Alyce was operated upon Monday for hernia of the diaphragm and to replace her stomach in the abdominal cavity from which it had strayed to the thoracic region under her left shoulder.

Her continued improvement has caused surgeons to put off immediate consideration of blood transfusion to aid her in the fight for strength. The long weeks of sickness created an anemic condition and the subject of blood transfusion has been discussed at various times as a probable aid to Alyce's recovery.

An idea of Alyce's determination to get well may be gained by a glimpse at her menu of last night. On Wednesday she was able to take only water and orange juice. Yesterday she had beef broth. But last night, it became known this morning, she announced she would like some macaroni and cheese.

As in the case of her previous wishes, this one was granted. Attendants said she ate the hearty dish with relish and that there was no subsequent distress. Prior to her operation Alyce suffered numerous exhausting distress periods after she had eaten.

Gets Companion.
Lewistown, Pa., March 8 (AP).—Sidney Isenberg today has the company she wanted—some one to talk to about the operation which righted her inverted stomach.

Sidney has been "treating a bit about the lack of companionship in her private room. Today hospital officials moved another patient—a little girl whose name they would not disclose—into the room with her.

Indicative of what doctors regarded as her continued progress, Sidney's diet has been enlarged from fruit juices to include gelatine and chocolate milk. She was given some ice cream, too.

Physicians said X-ray examinations, taken to check the progress of her rearranged organs, showed "very gratifying" results.

NRA Legislation Slows Up Industry

"hourly rates" of wages. Richberg conceded "the purchasing power of the wage earner has remained about what it was" because of shortened hours.

But, he added, "by the increased employment resulting from shortening hours purchasing power has been increased."

The distribution of wages was changed in NRA, Richberg testified, by raising the levels in minimum groups more than in higher paid groups.

La Follette suggested that the fact that industries were "running full blast" in early summer 1933 "to get ahead of the codes put 'pressure' on NRA to get codes agreed to and was a factor in the kind of code that was agreed to."

"It was responsible for the approval of many codes of which there might be doubt of many provisions," Richberg replied.

La Follette said the whole procedure was on a "horse-trading basis," in which trade practice concessions were made to industry in return for labor provisions in the code.

Partially "Horse-Trading"

Richberg said it was partially "horse-trading" but more exactly it was "budget balancing" in which employers said "if you let me do this I can afford to do that."

La Follette then cited unemployment figures showing 10,530,000 out of jobs in December, 1934, and 10,612,000 in December, 1935.

"As far as the objective of promoting the fullest utilization of the nation's productive capacities is concerned," La Follette said, "the result of the horse trading hasn't gotten us very far along the road."

"We had an increase of 3,000,000 jobs before December, 1935," Richberg replied. "It's a pretty sum."

"Yes," the Wisconsin senator agreed, "but we haven't made much progress since."

Nine Head of Cattle In Automobile Mishap

Nine head of cattle being transported from Stamford to New York by truck, were thrown out and one sustained a broken back, when the truck overturned Thursday while making the turn just east of the bridge at Mt. Tremper, Harold Austin, driver of the truck, escaped injury, as did his brother, who was riding with him.

The badly injured animal was taken to a barn nearby, the others being taken on to New York in another truck. The cattle were owned by Robert McGuever of Stamford.

Deputy Sheriff Vandenburgh who made an investigation of the accident was told that the accident was caused by a defect in the steering wheel, so that the truck failed to make the turn and left the road.

Box Cols. Inc. in Bankruptcy.
New York, March 8 (AP).—A voluntary petition for permission to reorganize under Section 773 of the bankruptcy act was filed today in the U. S. District Court by Box Cols. Inc.

The petition lists a deficit, as of January 31, 1935, of $2,347,563, current liabilities of $1,278,312, total assets of $1,069,251, and contingent liability to the General Electric Contracts Corporation of $2,445,274 and to other corporations a total of $250,000. The corporation, which deals in electrical appliances, does business in New York and adjacent counties, and in England, Scotland, and

Al Smith Opposes Judges' Sentences

New York, March 8 (AP).—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith hopes to see the day when the power of sentencing criminals will be taken away from judges, but he said yesterday he guessed he was "a little ahead of the times."

"Judges should be limited to presiding at a trial," he told a regional probation conference. "Their duties should be to define the law to the jury. When the verdict is returned the sentencing should be exercised by a state commission."

"This commission ought to be organized that men of recognized and distinctive ability who could and would determine every factor in the case would be attracted."

Smith was sure the gangster wouldn't fool such a commission.

"We don't want revenge for crime," he said. "We want protection. We should teach offenders that there is something better and higher in life than the pursuit which brought the law upon them."

Moscow Welcomes Capt. Eden
London, March 8 (AP).—Capt. Anthony Eden, Lord Privy Seal, will be welcomed in Moscow for discussions on European peace which were to have been undertaken by Sir John Simon, the Soviet government informed Great Britain today. It was officially stated that Russia had not raised the question of the equality and status of the ministers which the opposition had brought up in the House of Commons yesterday.

The question had been raised as to whether the Soviet government would object to the sending of Captain Eden rather than the foreign secretary himself. The British government still is without word from Berlin on the question of visits to the Wilhelmstrasse. Sir John's visit to Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler which was to have taken place yesterday, was cancelled by Hitler himself following publication of the British White Paper on German armaments.

Going to Hollywood
New York, March 8 (AP).—Sigvard Bernadotte, grandson of King Gustaf of Sweden, who forfeited his title of prince by marrying a commoner, arrived on the liner Bremen today with his wife, en route to the film studios of Hollywood. Experienced in routine work in the UFA and Terra Film companies of Germany, Bernadotte will devote six months in Hollywood to work calculated to make him a director. He has no wish to act. Asked if he retained any minor titles, Bernadotte said: "No, I am just plain master now."

His wife, the former Erika Tazek, is the daughter of a Polish coal dealer in Berlin. She is dark haired and slender, and on her arrival was fashionable in black, a shoulder bouquet of orchids and a black of the valley the only eye note of her ensemble.

Mrs. Richberg Undiscovered
New York, March 8 (AP).—Despite the upsetting experience of being served in a $200,000 allegation of affectionation yesterday, Elizabeth Richberg, Metropolitan opera soprano, performed brilliantly last night as soloist with the Philharmonic orchestra. Mrs. Richberg, named by Mrs. Augusta Fink as the wife of her husband, Edna Fink, Metropolitan opera, filled the new opera house yesterday as the central figure in a dramatic performance. Today the musical artist performed her magnificent singing of the Brahms Requiem, with Arturo Toscanini conducting the Philharmonic. Friedrich Schur also appeared as soloist. The house was sold out and standing ovations were given throughout the performance.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE F. JAGGER

New York, March 8 (AP)—The stock market staged another Wall Street crawl today and managed to make a little further headway upstream.

While rails were inclined to hang back, the utilities, metals and scattered industrials gave a rather good account of themselves without any striking news to stimulate them.

Eastman Kodak shares got up 2 points and gained of major fractions to a point of 100. American Can, Continental Can, American Cigar, Case, Procter & Gamble, Texas Gulf, American Bank Note, American Telephone & Telegraph, Public Service of New Jersey, McIntyre Porcelain, E. S. Smelling, Corro De Paso and Noranda Mines. Slight improvement was shown by Santa Fe and Southern Pacific, but Union Pacific, N. Y. Central and Pennsylvania were a shade lower.

Governor Ten Eyck Dies.

Albany, N. Y., March 8 (AP)—Governor Herbert H. Lehman and Agriculture Commissioner Peter G. Ten Eyck today assembled data to present to national administration officials next week in an effort to secure federal aid to avert a breakdown in prices in the state's milk industry.

Mr. Lehman and the commission will confer with Secretary of Agriculture, Wallace, on ways of averting a drop of cheap milk to New York state. The problem arose when the Supreme Court of the United States ruled a portion of the state's milk control was invalid. Under the decision the state no longer is permitted to buy milk produced outside the state at prices below New York's minimum rate. State officials, it is understood, want the federal government to sponsor a move which will prevent the dumping of cheap milk on the New York market.

Huey Long Resumes Tirade on Farley

Washington, March 8 (AP)—Senator Huey P. Long (D-La.) resumed his attack on Postmaster General Farley in the Senate today and charged the postoffice committee was seeking answers from persons named in his investigation resolution before acting on it.

Only a short while before Long's assault on the administration in a radio speech was termed "an adroit piece of demagoguery" by Senator Clark (D-Mo.). In general it called Little bit on Capitol Hill.

Prior to the committee meeting for the fifth consecutive day to consider his proposed investigation of Farley's official conduct, Long had read to the Senate what he called a photostat copy of a Treasury Department letter which he said showed "rascality and fraud" in operations of the American National Bank at Nashville.

He added Farley had used his influence in frustrating a grand jury investigation of the bank by displacing A. V. McLane, United States district attorney, at a time when the jury was about to act.

Amelia Earhart Hopes To Fly Far Northward

Portland, Me., March 8 (AP)—With Atlantic and Pacific solo flights tucked in her belt, Amelia Earhart, America's number one woman flier, looked northward today for new worlds to conquer.

Arriving here by automobile from Concord, N. H., she hugged a stove in the dispatcher's office of the Portland airport and talked about aviation before she boarded a special plane for Augusta to address a joint session of the Legislature.

"There are lots and lots of places I haven't been," she confided, "that I want to go to. Most of all, though, my husband and I want to go to the far north. We'll go as far as we can by boat and then we'll take to the sky."

Queried as to whether she meant her husband, George Palmer Putnam, New York publisher, would accompany her in the plane, she replied smilingly:

"He'll go as far as the boat goes, anyway."

"Right now," she added, "it's just a dream. Some people dream about going to Europe or some faraway place. For a long time I have dreamed of flying farther into the north than anyone had ever penetrated before. Perhaps I never will, but at least I can dream about it."

Miss Earhart was a guest of honor at a dinner last night in Montpelier, Vt.

4-H Club News

Creek Locks.

The Creek Locks Homemaking Club held its regular monthly meeting at the school house Tuesday, March 5. The roll call showed nine to be present. Ruth Hotelling, president, Virginia Markle, vice president-treasurer, Miss Edna Kelly, leader, Mrs. Ora Sager, leader, Shirley Brown, Virginia Constant and Helen and Marie Lynch. During the meeting plans were made for the annual parent meeting to be held April 9. Some time was spent suggesting different ways to raise camp fees for summer camps at Glencliff. Next week both clubs will have a joint meeting to decide definite plans. We then continued with our projects for this year.

Seek Schultz Henchmen

Albany, N. Y., March 8 (AP)—State and local police scoured the capital district today to root out henchmen of Dutch Schultz and obtained information in connection with the murder of Julius Martin and an alleged death plot against J. Richard Davis, counsel for the pudge New York city gangster.

No Claim As Speaker

Detroit, March 8 (AP)—The Automobile Manufacturers' Association, in a letter to President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, asserted today that the federation, having "repudiated the President's settlement, has no just claim to be spokesman for the automobile workers generally."

Cold Brings Relief.

Jackson, Miss., March 8 (AP)—Dropping temperatures today brought some relief to portions of four states menaced with floods as a result of torrential rains during the past three days. Northwest and central Mississippi and southern Alabama were still endangered but the waters in Louisiana and Arkansas receded.

UNEARTH RUINS OF MOST ANCIENT CITY

Scientists Hope to Find Earlier Layers of History.

Philadelphia.—Ruins of a city 6,000 years old—in fact, the "oldest city in the world"—have been unearthed in the Tepe Gawra prehistoric mound in northern Iraq.

A report from Charles Bache, field director of a joint archaeological expedition from the American School of Oriental Research and the Museum of the University of Pennsylvania, recently disclosed the discovery of the ruins. Work on the mound was begun in 1927 under Dr. Ephraim A. Spieser, director of the Oriental Research school at Baghdad.

The new find is the eleventh city to be uncovered in the excavations. Trial diggings have indicated that as many as twelve additional "layers of civilization" lie beneath this 6,000-year-old city, and give promise of pushing the ancient veil of civilization back several thousand years before Christ.

The most modern town in the mound was last inhabited about 1500 B. C. It is located 15 miles from the modern city of Mosul, across the river from the ruins of the ancient biblical city of Nineveh, 300 miles northwest of Ur of the Chaldees.

Many evidences of the domestic and industrial life of the inhabitants of the 6,000-year-old city were uncovered among the ruined walls of a temple and several private houses. There were fragments of pottery, spindles, and loom weights, hammer stones, hoes, knives, lead scrapers, combs, mortars, and receptacles for kohl, which the women used as a beauty aid.

In several unroofed tombs the searchers found precious stones and other valuables placed inside wooden coffins, which had been sealed in graves reinforced with mud brick and reeds.

Included in the latter find were such items as weapons, rosettes, beads, gold ornaments, a wolf's head made of a natural gold-silver alloy, and such precious and semi-precious stones as carnelian, obsidian, turquoise, and lapis-lazuli.

Transient Boys Make Own Home in Capital

Washington.—Twenty-four young transients are engaged in a project here which may result in solution of the country's boy transient problem.

Under the supervision of the Washington transient bureau, the boys have been given the job of making their own home. They are reconditioning the old Grand house.

The project is a rambling, three-story building with many rooms. Kitchen and dining room are in the basement, recreation rooms and offices on the first floor and sleeping quarters on the two top floors.

Arnold Serwer, University of Wisconsin graduate, who is in charge of the work, said the house "was in pretty bad condition when we came in, but we're working on it hard." He believes the work will be completed in a month or so.

Airplane Travelers in U. S. Enjoy Lowest Fares

Chicago.—Airplane travelers in the United States pay lower fares than do air passengers in foreign countries, and also travel at much faster speeds, shows a survey completed by United Air Lines.

With European passenger fares translated into American dollars at current exchange rates, foreign travelers pay an average of eight and one-half cents a mile, with fares of ten cents a mile not uncommon abroad, contrasted with a fare of around six cents a mile in the United States. Excess baggage charges in the United States are practically half those of Europe.

Women's Smoking Rooms Are Approved by College

Corvallis, Ore.—Women's rights conquered tradition at Oregon State college when the administration approved a provision for women's smoking rooms in two dormitories. Authorities said establishment of the smoking rooms will lessen fire hazards caused by coeds smoking in their study rooms, a practice that is still forbidden.

New Theft Excess

Yakima, Wash.—A series of automobile thefts were solved when police found a seventeen-year-old Yakima youth had been stealing cars to convey his sweetheart to church.

Human Sacrifice an Old Indian Custom

Washington.—The savage practice of offering human sacrifices to the gods of war was widely in effect in North America at the time of the coming of the white man.

So said Dr. Truman Michelson of the Smithsonian Institution.

The practice is supposed to have been confined to the Aztec and Aztec Indians, but actually was widely diffused throughout the continent, he said.

In the Aztec rites, the heart of the victim was cut out with a stone knife. In the famous "Morning Star" rites of the Pawnee, a maiden was sacrificed. The Hurons burned maidens at the stake, Dr. Michelson asserts.

Aster Cows

Aphids create a sticky juice which the cows love. For this reason they are often called the "cows' cows." All aphids are killed by frost, but the cows carry them into their nests and winter them over underground, bringing them up in the spring.

Atharhacton Club

The Atharhacton Club met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss Emily Hoyeradt, who had an excellent paper on "The Modern Setting of Modern Drama." This paper was cleverly illustrated with sketches which Miss Hoyeradt had made of stage plans, lighting, coloring and other special effects, a very interesting subject admirably presented. Next week the club will meet with Mrs. Terwilliger.

Mrs. H. B. Hiller Weds

New York, March 7 (Special)—Mrs. Hazel Broadhead Hiller, 38, a widow and former resident of Kingston now of 161 Lexington Avenue, this city, and George MacPherson, 35, of the same New York address, were married here this afternoon in the City Chapel by Deputy City clerk Philip A. Hines shortly after obtaining a license to wed at the Municipal Building. Mrs. Hiller, who was born in Kingston, is the daughter of John and Alida Sutton Broadhead. Her first husband died last year. Mr. MacPherson, son of George and Elizabeth McGillivray MacPherson, was born in Scotland.

French Horn Once Banned in Some Musical Circles

The French horn is one of the most valuable and difficult wind instruments in the orchestra. It has a slender conical tube wound round in coils upon itself, and consists of four principal parts—the body, the crooks, the mouthpiece and the slides.

The body is the main tube, the crooks are interchangeable spiral tubes of varying length which alter the pitch and key of the instrument; the mouthpiece is different from other wind instruments in that it is funnel-shaped and not cup-shaped.

The slides are pairs of sliding tubes by means of which the instrument may be tuned.

The horn is also equipped with three valves to be operated by the player in producing the various tones in the scale.

The tone of the horn is mellow, rich and sonorous and is distinguished at the same time by a certain human quality which is vastly different from all the other members of the brass section.

The origin of the horn must be sought in prehistoric times when, says an authority in the Washington Post, by breaking off the tip of a short animal horn, one or at best two notes were obtained. This was undoubtedly the origin of the horn that was developed later and used in the symphony orchestra. It seems strange to think the horn was opposed at first, for now it is heard in nearly every orchestral piece. Yet when it first entered the orchestra it was considered coarse and unfit to mingle with the more delicate violins and oboes.

Politics in Germany

Natural Socialists are those who belong to the Nazi party. Socialists are the members of the Social Democratic party. Both parties, writes G. R. Turner in the Kansas City Times, cling to the fundamental principle of Socialism, which advocates governmental control of economic activities to the end that competition shall give way to co-operation and that the opportunities of life and the reward of labor shall be more equitably apportioned. German Socialists cling, however, to the theory that the state exists for the individual; National Socialists of Germany, to the teaching that the individual lives for the state. Hence, the former believe in free speech and a free ballot, the latter in a benign dictatorship.

Sleek Great Traveler

The fabulous story is a renowned traveler. After spending the summer months in central Europe it takes a trip to Africa, a distance of 2,000 miles in a straight line, but the story does not go straight, for it takes one of two routes, either through the Balkan states to Asia Minor and Palestine and thence along the Nile valley, or by way of France and Spain to Gibraltar and thence across the western Sahara to the lake region of central Africa.

Balkans Series of Ridges

The Balkans are a series of ridges of mountains in southeastern Europe. The term Balkan peninsula is applied to the region which contains them, the peninsula of southeastern Europe which was formerly under Turkish suzerainty, except that Rumania and Greece are often omitted in naming the Balkan states. The others now are Yugoslavia, Rumania, Albania and the remnant of European Turkey.

Yellowstone River, Lake

Yellowstone river, largest affluent of the Missouri river, rises in the Rocky mountains of Wyoming; Yellowstone lake in Wyoming lies in the east base of the Rocky mountains. There is a place called Yellow Creek about 30 miles southeast of Altamont in Pennsylvania and one called Yellow House in Berks county near Boyertown.

Vehicle Which Unseen

Funchal, capital of the Madeira islands, is a hillside that wheeled vehicles are unseen. Cows with ground runners provide the popular method of rapid transport—that is, as rapid as bullocks can provide. It is in Funchal that much of the beautiful embroidery sold in large cities is turned out by deft fingers.

Surprise Party

On Monday evening, March 4, a birthday surprise party was tendered Mrs. Lulu B. Quick at her home at Shady. A very enjoyable evening was spent by all those present with music and social intercourse. At midnight delicious refreshments were served at a nicely decorated table. Those present to wish Mrs. Quick many more happy returns of the day were: Mr. and Mrs. William Wilber of Woodstock, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Wilber of Willow, Mr. and Mrs. Norman D. Wilber and children, Norman, Ruth and Hubert, of Mt. Tremper, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Wilber and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Simmons of West Hurley, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Keefe and son, Harold Quick, of Shady.

Roosevelt Attends Holmes' Burial Today

Washington, March 8 (AP)—President Roosevelt turned toward Arlington cemetery today to lead the nation in final homage to one of its great—Oliver Wendell Holmes, former justice of the Supreme Court.

With Mrs. Roosevelt representing him at a simple church ceremony at noon, the Executive planned to go later to the burial ground to join the funeral cortege of the man he called "first citizen."

Words of solace spoken long ago by the soldier-jurist himself were included in the brief ceremony arranged for All Souls' Unitarian Church on the day that would have been Justice Holmes' 94th birthday.

The Rev. Dr. U. G. Pierce, who officiated at the funeral of William Howard Taft five years ago, chose to read this excerpt from an address Mr. Holmes gave on the death of a Massachusetts justice in 1899:

"We accept our destiny to work, to fight, to die, for ideal aims. At the grave of a hero who has done these things, we end, not with sorrow at the inevitable loss, but with the contagion of his courage, and with a kind of desperate joy, we go back to the fight."

The tolling of a bell cast in the foundry of Paul Revere more than 100 years ago called official Washington's representatives to the Colonial-style church.

Elevator Strike Enters 2nd Day

New York, March 8 (AP)—The Brooklyn "elevator" strike began its second day today with the Building Service Employees' Union claiming victories at two of the largest apartment houses affected.

Louis Cooper, president of the local, said an agreement had been signed at the Louis Morris apartments, where 23 employees went back to work last night, and that 35 men would return to the Theodore Roosevelt Apartments, where 250 families were left without service, as soon as an agreement could be signed today.

Cashew Nut Produces an Oil Used in Many Ways

The cashew nut grows in a leathery-skinned shell at the end of a swelling of the stem, which looks like a juicy fruit. The apple, as the swollen stem is called, is delicious, if sometimes a little astringent. It is used by the Brazilians to make the soft drink cajana, and also a strongly-flavored wine. The nut in the cooked condition is tasty.

The pericarp or shell of the nut, which is the true fruit, contains a dark reddish oil of great chemical interest, which burns the skin of sensitive people. This non-drying oil is used for making wood immune from white ant attack, and by the natives of the Andaman Islands to protect their fishing nets from decomposition.

A scientist has spent years in turning this unusual liquid, adapting it for use as a coating, and for purposes where few other materials appear to be as suitable.

Among its uses is the painting of all types of cement surfaces, especially when these are subject to continual wetting. It is also useful for coating metal, wood, and concrete in industrial plants, when ordinary paints may not withstand the corrosive influences. It appears to be well adapted for use as a ship-bottom paint and has been selected as the ideal paint for certain wooden laboratory tables.

Rhinoscenes Hide

The rhinoscenes hide is actually regarded as tougher than the elephant hide. It is not true, however, as generally supposed, that a bullet will not penetrate this skin except between the deep folds. It is naturally soft and easily penetrated by a bullet or burning knife. When dried it becomes exceedingly hard and was formerly used by Indian princes in making shields for their soldiers. Rhinoscenes are used in large caliber rifles when hunting the rhinoscenes, though sometimes runs of small caliber are employed. The favorite shot is the heart shot and the neck shot. It does not appear that the animal is much harder for a big game hunter to kill than the other.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors for their kindness during the illness and at the time of death of husband and father, William J. Geary. We are especially grateful to the Rev. James F. Moore for his kindness and consolation.

She was a member of the Methodist Church in Grahamsville, and attended the Reformed Church of this village. She deceased was a charter member of the Ellenville O. E. S. and a charter member of the Major Dwight Division Chapter of the Major Dwight Union, 1851-

Legionnaires Play Bisons Tuesday, Renaissance Quintet on March 15

Morgenweckers Being Held to Five Game Arrangement for State Title—World Famous Colored Quintet Will Play Here March 15—Pip Koehler Leaves for His Home in Toledo.

We have to settle this State League championship one way or the other and for that reason we will play the Buffalo Bisons here next Tuesday night in the fourth game of the five-game series," stated Manager Pop Morgenwecker of the Legionnaires this morning. "The original arrangement was a five-game series and the Buffalo management is holding us to the agreement. They figure with their present ball club they still have a chance of beating us and we will give them the chance to do that and win the State League title. Next assured that we are going to beat them this time and gain undisputed rights to the State League title, if we possibly can."

The Legionnaires are one up on the Bisons in the five-game series. The Buffaloes defeated the locals three weeks ago at Buffalo and the following week, the Morgenweckers took them into camp at the Auditorium court. Last Sunday night a determined spurt in the last two minutes pulled the third game out of the fire for the Legionnaires on the Buffalo court by 28 to 23. The score was tied at 21-all in the last two minutes but seven points were chalked up for Kingston so quickly it made the fans gasp in sheer amazement.

The present lineup of the Bisons is much stronger than it was the forepart of the season. They have the sensational Manny Hirsch, and Paul Snyder teaming in the forward position with big Ike Rakasi at center. This boy gave the Legionnaires plenty of trouble at Buffalo. At guards they have Correll and McNamara, two fast, heavy youngsters. Sam Seigel and Harrington constitute the back strength and undoubtedly they will bring their strongest lineup here in an effort to wrest the State title.

This game will be played on Tuesday night of next week on the Municipal Auditorium court. Reserved seats are now on sale at the Legion building with Les Barth in charge.

Renaissance Friday

The fans will be treated to another great ball game when Captain Fat Jenkins leads his world-famous Renaissance Big Five on the court against the Legionnaires next Friday night, March 15. There is hardly a basketball fan in the East, Middle West and South that has not at one time or another seen this all-star colored aggregation in action. Many fans are of the opinion that they are the greatest basketball team ever assembled and the Auditorium should see a capacity crowd.

Pip Koehler Leaves.

Pip Koehler, one of the most popular of the Legionnaire players, left today for his home in Toledo, Ohio. Pip has been here since Thanksgiving and hasn't seen his family since. He will stay in Toledo about a week before leaving for Daytona Beach, the scene of the Atlanta Cracker of the Southern Association training sessions.

Future Plans.

With two games booked for next week at home, the Legionnaire management is making future plans for the following weeks. Efforts are being made to secure the Philadelphia Hebrews for the following Wednesday. By that time, the Eastern League championship should be settled and a playoff arranged with them. The American League championship should also be played by the time that Eastern-State League title is decided and a playoff with the title club of the O'Brien circuit is in the making.

While it was somewhat disappointing to the Legionnaire management not to have received an American berth, Kingston, fandom will now be treated to some real championship basketball as a result.

The Legionnaires go to Yonkers Sunday night to play a return game with the Clintons of that city. The Kingston quintet made a very favorable impression upon Yonkers fandom and the management of the Clintons readily booked them for a return game. They defeated the down-river quintet in their first appearance.

Combination Five Takes Clinton Jrs.

Wednesday evening on the Clinton Avenue court the Combination Five edged out the Clinton Avenue Juniors by the score of 37-35. The winners were trailing until the last few minutes of play when they staged a sharp rally and forged to the front. Van Kleeck was the big gun on the attack for the Combination with 14 points. Markle counted 11 for the losers with 10.

Scorers:
Combination Five—S. Van Kleeck, 14; J. Maurer, 11; G. Clark, 5; H. Schumann, 10; K. Meisel, 2; total, 37.
Clinton Avenue Juniors—Markle, 10; Silberburg, 11; Stall, 5; Brown, 5; St. Barroff, 10; total, 35.

G. & E. BOWLERS DEFEAT SERVICE MEN

Last evening at the Livingston Street alley, the Office Team defeated the Service Men of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Co. three out of four games. Thompson was the high man for the winners with a 170, while Brock was high for the losers with 144.

B. A. Street was outstanding in the special matches with 110, 93, 110, which were rolled before the game began.

NEW YORK, MARCH 8 (AP).—The Poughkeepsie regatta, one of sports major classics, will be rowed this year on Tuesday, June 18, but the number of competing crews will be in doubt for a month or two, at least.
Coinciding with the setting of the date by the stewards of the inter-collegiate rowing association yesterday, rowing experts hazarded a prediction that at least seven, possibly eight, crews would enter the four-mile varsity race.
They regarded it as certain that the seven who rowed last year—California, the winner, Washington, Navy, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Syracuse and Columbia—would be back. Invitations are expected to go to Wisconsin, Marquette, Massachusetts Tech and possibly others. One or more of these may accept.
The regatta also includes a three-mile race for junior varsities and a two-mile freshman contest.

Malcolm, Sir Superspeed, Rides Again!

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 8 (AP).—Sir Malcolm Campbell had a new world's automobile speed record to tack to the cockpit of Bluebird today—276.816 miles an hour—but whether that would satisfy him for this year, or for any other year, not even he knew.

In other years, the moment he fractured the straightaway, he was packed up immediately, put the monster Bluebird in a crate, and started straight back for England. This time he's hesitating.

He went out on Daytona's sands yesterday and lifted his mark from 272.108 to 276.816. It was a fractional improvement, as he soared southward through the measured mile in 3.29 seconds at an average of 272.727 miles an hour, and came back the same stretch in 3.21 seconds at a 281.030 mile an hour clip. When he set his 272.108 mile record two years ago he averaged 13.23 seconds for the measured mile.

Campbell said last night, before he retired, that he had made no decision as to whether he would star here and continue to shoot for the 300 miles an hour he feels is in Bluebird if the beach ever reaches the millennium of perfection he desires. Yet, at the same time, he had asked the city officials to stand by, and be prepared to clock him in future attempts.

With the beach level as a billiard table, Campbell set out on the late ebb tide, shortly after 4 p. m., and came thundering down the 1 1/2 mile stretch. Bluebird hitting on all 12 of her 2,500 horsepower cylinders.

He was doing 262,390 miles an hour as he headed into the measured mile in the middle of the course. 272.727 as he flashed through it, and from there on he coasted to a stop at the far end of the course.

"It was quite smooth going down," he said.

Within half an hour he had changed tires and was on his way back. He was doing 270,270 this time as he came up the measured mile north, and 282,920 as he smashed through it in 3.21 seconds.

Campbell Breaks Mark But May Try Again for 300 Miles Per Hour

Legionnaires Lose to Middletown by 38-33

In an exhibition game at Middletown last night the Kingston Legionnaires lost to the Middletown quintet by 38-33. Whiteman of Middletown was the outstanding performer and dropped in eight fields and a foul for 17 points. He is a local Middletown boy and will bear watching in the future.

Carl Husta played a hard game for Kingston and led the scorers with nine points. Benny Borgmann, playing for Middletown, scored 13 points, all in the last period. It was Pip Koehler's last game for the Legionnaires and he played a stellar game at forward and accounted for three straight fields. Duccieri was the referee.

A Phony Strike

Gouverneur, N. Y., March 8 (AP).—Early Readmore, Gouverneur bowler, is wondering today when is a strike not a strike. Readmore tossed a ball straight down the alley last night. It hit the number one pin dead center, and 16 pins flew into the air. An erratic corner pin flew as high as any of them and alighted close to the edge of the alley. It wobbled and spun, then finally came to rest in an upright position. Readmore got a spare on what really was a strike.

Tar Heel Fresh Cagers Hot.

Chapel Hill, N. C., (AP).—Walter D. Skidmore, coaching University of North Carolina freshman basketball for the first time, came up with a record of 15 wins in 16 games, losing over to North Carolina State yesterday in an overtime game. His charges averages 38 points to 22.

Last evening at White Eagle Hall the Roamers, flushed an evenly divided attack and took the measure of the Z. N. P. quintet in a hard fought game. The final count was 40-36. Chipp was high for the winners with 11, but was closely followed by Blitner, who garnered 10. Teetsel dropped in four fields and a foul for nine and Fitzgerald got three ducies. Debrosky scored four points.

Kelly, the Z. N. P.'s right guard, was the high scorer for the evening with seven straight fields.

In the preliminary tilt the White Eagles won their 10th straight game when they took Troy's Collegians into camp by the time of 28-21. The winners jumped into the lead at the opening of the game and were in front by 22-4 at the rest period. The Collegians started to rally in the closing periods but the White Eagles easily held their advantage. T. Tatarszewski starred for the home team with 24 points. Stumpf led the losers with seven.

Rodak and Ritter Take Lead in Six Day Race

New York, March 8 (AP).—Mickey Rodak of Chicago and Charley Ritter of Newark gained undisputed possession of first place in the six day bike race at Madison Square Garden as the 12 remaining teams passed the 106th hour at 7 o'clock this morning.

The leadership changed hands several times as the riders were jamming furiously throughout the night. A total of 160 laps were stolen to bring the race total up to 1280.

Cuban Strike Spreads To Transport Workers

By EDMOND A. CHESTER
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)
(Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press)
Havana, March 8 (AP)—The strike against the government of President Carlos Mendiolaga spread today to employees of most of Havana's transportation facilities after a night disturbed by continual bomb explosions. Street railway employees left their jobs, all but paralyzing the city's primary transportation system, and railroad and bus men voted to join the anti-government movement, but set no date for their walkout.

Fourteen bombs exploded in the city and its suburbs during the night and seven at interior points. The blasts damaged the Havana courthouse, police station, a mailbox and several other buildings. Army authorities took over the administration of hospitals and the care of thousands of patients after the institutions were deserted by their staffs. Most of Havana's citizens were compelled to walk to work today. Only a few street cars were running under the guard of police armed with rifles. A portion of the city's buses operated on haphazard schedule. Nine government departments were affected by extension of strike sentiment along with most municipal offices and their dependences. Four Havana newspapers, El Mundo, Nacion, Ahora and La Palabra said they had been ordered by police to suspend publication. Faced by the steadily growing manifestations of hostility, the government stiffened its resistance. Several outbreaks of shooting occurred during the night in Havana, but police declined to give any information about the incidents. Part of the firing occurred as soldiers and sailors dispersed a group in the streets near the capital. No casualties were reported. Small bombs exploded throughout the night.

Chicago Art Institute Buys "Lost" Rembrandt

Chicago.—The Chicago Art Institute has purchased a Rembrandt painting, "Christ Washing the Disciples' Feet," lost for three centuries. Institute authorities said the work was purchased from an Austrian nobleman, but refused to reveal his identity or the price. Other Rembrandts have sold as high as $200,000.

Science Stops The Clock Of Death; Saves Lives In Marginal Minutes

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

New York (AP)—Medical science is reversing death. This is the real significance of the mounting numbers of "dead" reported brought back to life.

The portal of death for man, the last door, which cannot be reopened, is no longer his heart. Medical men have known for years that the real portal was elsewhere.

But the last heart beat was a sumptuous sign to be used as official. Because from it there was so rarely any recall.

This has changed. Between 500 and 1,000 persons "dead" by the stopped heart sign, have been brought back to life in the last five years.

Conditions Must Be Right
The circumstances under which this seeming "miracle" can be performed are sharply limited. They include only about a dozen types of diseases and accidents, none of which may be permitted to do serious organic harm before a heart is to be restarted.

The cases are enough to call attention to the real portal of death; and to what medical science is doing toward reaching that door. The real portal is the nervous system. In death the start is with the nervous system. So long as the system is intact there is still hope.

Closely related to it are respiration and the heart. The nervous system controls both.

"Closing Portals"
It might be said that the portal is a series of three doors, very close together. They close so swiftly one after the other that there may be doubt at times as to which shut first. But in order of importance the nervous system stands highest.

One reason is that of all the bodily issues the nerves are the most "labile," the most easily upset. Dissolution in them is more speedy than elsewhere. In an examination of beheaded persons in Germany it was found that nervous tissues died more quickly than others, and took only about two minutes to do so.

One progressive step in recent control of the nervous center capitalizes something man has known since cave days, the sigh. The sigh is a deep breath, to clear out the respiratory center of accumulated carbon dioxide and poisons.

It is the carbon dioxide, natural waste product of the body, which causes the sigh. The carbon dioxide stimulates the nervous center—the deep breath follows.

From breathless moments of experimentation and observation, medical science has wrested knowledge by which a few fleeting minutes frequently can be stolen from the dial of death. It is enough. In some cases, to save the lives of thousands on whom the shadow has been cast.

Respiratory Stimulants
Medicine uses this fact by giving massive doses of carbon dioxide, more than the body can supply naturally, mixing it with oxygen. The carbon dioxide thus used is a powerful stimulant to the respiratory center in the nervous system. It has saved many lives.

Another stimulant that works directly on the nerve center is alpha lobelin, an alkaloid from the herb lobelia. The herb, an Indian remedy, was discovered in America by physicians of King James I of England. Not until quite recently was the essential substance, alpha lobelin, extracted in pure form. Medical authorities regard its possibilities with growing favor. It is used in asphyxia, meningitis and respiratory collapse from shock from anesthesia and from hemorrhage.

The margin by which death has been pushed back is narrow, a matter of a few minutes. Yet, these minutes are all important for many persons, and each gain in this range means saving thousands of lives.

Miss Emily Lent was home from Vassar college for the week-end visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lent.

The meeting of the Music Study club scheduled for next week has been postponed and the first one to be held will be on March 26 at the home of Mrs. Julius W. Blakely with Miss Edna Curry preparing a program on the symphonies of Beethoven.

Report of the recent card party held by the Queen Esther club was made at the meeting held Wednesday evening with Mrs. Ethel Bradshaw by the treasurer, Miss Edith Dickinson that $65.15 had been cleared. This completes the activities of the club for the year. Mrs. Louis Palmer had provided refreshments as the entertainment and brought with her Mrs. Lloyd Pless and Mrs. George Hildebrand. There were 27 members present. The hostess served refreshments. The next meeting on March 20 is with Mrs. Herbert Campbell.

Ida McKinley Council, D. of A. voted to contribute $5 toward the milk fund at their meeting Wednesday evening which Mrs. James Callahan presided over. Mrs. D. H. Kuris and Mrs. Callahan are to attend a meeting at the home of D. D. Mrs. Ella Snow in Kingston Monday night to arrange for the district meeting to be held in Kingston April 26. Games in keeping with St. Patrick's day were enjoyed in charge of Mrs. Harry Vandervoort and refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Cotant, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Decker, Mrs. Robert Cammisa, Mrs. Emma Davis, Mrs. Amelia Dickinson, Mrs. Lavinia Coulam. Guests were present from Kingston and Deputy Burke presented a "dark horse" which was won by Mrs. Fred Seider. Miss Bertha Disney is chairman of refreshments for the next meeting.

Williams will be assisted by Mrs. M. E. Maynard and Miss Julia Van Keuren. The April meeting will be held with Mrs. W. D. Corwin. Among those present were: The president, Mrs. George Hildebrand, Mrs. Maries Thatcher, Mrs. M. E. "Little Stories for Bedtime" by Thornton W. Burgess

HORNS THAT ARE REALLY NOT HORNS

"IF YOU are so fond of the cold, I don't see what you leave the Far North at all for," said Peter Rabbit to Snowflake the Snow Bunting.

It was Wandewer the Horned Lark.

you wake up and find the snow so deep that all the seeds are buried, don't expect to find me."

It was Wandewer the Horned Lark.

quainted, for Wandewer seldom stared long enough for a real acquaintance. Now, as Wandewer reached up to pick seeds from a weed top, Peter had a good look at him. The first thing he noticed was what looked like two little horns above and behind the eyes. It is from these that Wandewer gets the name of Horned Lark. Of course, they are not really horns at all, but little tufts of black feathers. His forehead, a line over each eye, and his throat were yellow. There was a black mark from each corner of his bill curving downward and almost joining a black crescent shaped band across the breast. Beneath this he was white with dusky spots showing here and there. His back was brown in places, having almost a pinkish tinge. His tail was black, showing a little white along the edges when he flew. Altogether he was a handsome little fellow.

A double-murder in one of the west's grim range wars was believed solved with the arrest of Clinton Palmer (above), 38-year-old Texas ranchman, who was quoted as saying he killed his "neighbors" when they tried to drive away his sheep. (Associated Press Photo)

Home Owners Bill Before Legislature

Albany, N. Y., March 8 (AP).—A bill for relief of owners who lost their homes between January 1, 1930, and August 26, 1933, through foreclosures or deficiency judgments, was before the legislature today.

It empowers the court to treat foreclosures and deficiency judgments arising from them as "equitable proceedings." The bill was introduced by Assemblyman Harold Herman, Floral Park, L. I., Republican.

"Under existing emergency laws," said Mr. Herman, "there is no relief for a person whose home was foreclosed and against whom judgment was taken before August 26, 1933. Laws on the statute books give relief to persons who lost their homes by foreclosure after August 26, 1933, but thousands of persons were victims of the depression which began in 1929 and were turned out into the streets when they were unable to meet or continue mortgage payments.

"The man who lost his home before August, 1933, is entitled to the same relief as those who watched their savings of a lifetime being swept away through foreclosure proceedings after the effective date of the mortgage relief bill.

"It was a general practice before August, 1933, to ruthlessly foreclose homes and bid them in for a nominal sum. This was due to the condition of the real estate market in the lack of competitive bidding.

"This practice has flooded the courts since 1929," Assemblyman Herman said, "and my bill would set up machinery so that those against whom default judgments were taken, or may be further taken, may have their judgments adjusted."

Rev. McGrath Accepts Call to Remain Here

At the monthly meeting of the of ficial board of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church held last evening at the close of the prayer service, the Rev. Howard Dixon McGrath was given a unanimous invitation to remain as pastor of the church. The Rev. Mr. McGrath very graciously accepted the invitation and stated that both he and Mrs. McGrath had been very happy since coming to Kingston and that it would be a great pleasure for them both to continue to serve the church here. The church year closes March 31 and reports show that it is in the best spiritual and financial condition that it has been for many years. The annual conference of the M. E. Church will be held in 18th Street Church, New York city, May 2, presided over by Bishop McConnell. The Rev. Mr. McGrath came to Kingston one year ago after the death of the Rev. Charles E. Rignall, from Trinity Church, Beacon.
